Underpricing and long-term performance in Germany* Matthias Hetzenecker,2020-11-19 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2019 in the subject Business economics Review of Business Studies grade 1 0 University of applied Sciences Regensburg language English abstract This paper examines value creation by private equity backed IPOs It gives detailed insights on a mostly US based research topic analyzing 134 German IPOs from 2002 to 2018 of which 49 were identified as PE backed and contributes empirical evidence on the discussion of private equity value creation The empirical results provide detailed information on whether private equity financing can be a suitable financing source for companies by comparing and analyzing the performance differences between IPOs of companies with and without private equity sponsors Furthermore the paper provides empirical evidence on the IPO phenomena of underpricing and negative long term performance for Germany differentiating itself from former studies in terms of a broader time horizon and an extensive return calculation methodology Since the locust swarms debate initiated by SPD politician Franz Müntefering private equity investors have had to struggle with an extremely bad reputation in Germany Unpopular measures such as company divestures or mass redundancies to achieve set turnover and return targets reinforce the negative image of financial investors Accordingly investor and business magnate Warren Buffet criticized that businesses under private equity control become a piece of merchandise Nonetheless the private equity industry continues to boom reaching new records in terms of global business volume and transactions Under these circumstances and new evolving discussions it is essential to take a close look at the business model of private equity firms and to analyze potential short and long term value creation in their portfolio companies
