Alternative Reproductive Tactics Rui F. Oliveira, Michael Taborsky, H. Jane Brockmann, 2008-03-13 The study of alternative reproductive tactics the behavioural strategies used by individuals to increase their reproductive success is an evolutionary puzzle and one of great interest to researchers For instance why do some males guard both nest and eggs while others sneak into nests while pairs are spawning and fertilise those eggs The field offers a special opportunity to study the evolution and functional causes of phenotypic variation which is a general problem in the field of evolutionary biology By integrating both mechanistic psychological and evolutionary behavioural ecology perspectives and by covering a great diversity of species Alternative Reproductive Tactics addresses this integrated topic of longstanding interest bringing together a multitude of otherwise scattered information in an accessible form that is ideal for graduate students and researchers

Animal Signaling and Function Duncan J. Irschick, Mark Briffa, Jeffrey Podos, 2015-01-20 The diversity of animal signals has been widely documented and the generality of animal signals also tantalizingly suggests that there are common mechanisms that have selected for their origin However while much progress has been made on some fronts we still lack a general theory about why the diversity of signaling structures exist Our compilation will directly address this gap by focusing on an exciting new arena of sexual selection namely using functional approaches to understand signaling This approach is rooted in the idea that many signals are designed to transmit important functional information that is both important for issues of male quality and hence male competition and female choice The increasing use of technology in sexual selection studies has enabled researchers to test whether signaling is either constrained by or accurately transmits information about functional capacities Further in animals that fight vigorously functional capacities such as endurance or strength may make the difference between winning and losing This volume brings together a diverse collection of researchers who are actively investigating how function and signaling are related These researchers use both a variety of methods and taxa to study animal signaling and we believe that this integrative view is important to open up fresh vistas for why animal signals have evolved
