Blazing a trail toward solutions to a complex problem, the contributors to this book focus on the prevention of alcohol abuse and alcoholism among American blacks. Not only do they survey the existing literature, they also break new theoretical and empirical ground. The first of the book's two sections addresses major models of black alcoholism and its prevention. The authors assess the strengths and weaknesses of contemporary preventive efforts designed for blacks, and they map out new directions for the future. The second section examines the prevention of alcoholism among specific subgroups of blacks, such as adolescents and women; the prevention and treatment of black alcoholism in the workplace; and the role of prevention as alcohol consumption and reduction in the black community.

Prevention Of Black Alcoholism Issues And Strategies:

Prevention of Black Alcoholism Roosevelt Wright, Thomas D. Watts, 1985 Alcohol Resources , 1985 Alcohol Health and Research World , 1987 Handbook of Prevention and Treatment with Children and Adolescents Robert T. Ammerman, Michel Hersen, 1997 This book empirically evaluates intervention strategies that deal directly with the sociodemographic forces that promote dysfunction and undermine treatment outcomes Focusing on the issues and challenges faced by clinicians this groundbreaking book provides practical real world solutions designed to mitigate the influence of negative environmental factors Alcohol and Human Behavior P. Clayton Rivers, 1994 Surveys the critical issues discussed in the field pointing out how each issue has been approached from several theoretical perspectives A Resource Directory for the Prevention of Alcohol and Other Drug Problems Among Youth Marilyn Aguirre-Molina, 1991 NIAAA Information and Feature Service , 1981 Quarterly Journal of Studies on Alcohol , 1986 Includes sections Activities of the Research Council on Problems of Alcohol and Current literature NIAAA Information & Feature Service National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (U.S.), 1979 Alcoholism and Pastoral Ministry Steven L. Berg, 1989 Eighth Special Report to the U.S. Congress on Alcohol and Health from the Secretary of Health and Human Services , 1993 Social Work , 1988 Clinical Manual of Substance Abuse Jean Kinney, 1996 A comprehensive practical reference for all health care professionals who care for patients with substance abuse problems Part I provides a framework for clinical management of these patients and Part II is comprised of chapters on working with specific populations and groups Preventing Alcohol Abuse Among Adolescents Gayle M. Boyd, Jan Howard, Robert A. Zucker, 1994 Organized in terms of an implicit phases model this special issue begins with two analyses of risk and protective factors that influence adolescent drinking patterns over time without the intrusion of deliberate intervention The remaining articles focus almost entirely on intervention research studies that test or evaluate intervention strategies in terms of their impact or potential impact on alcohol use and abuse by adolescents They are organized in terms of a micro macro environmental perspective moving from the smaller microcosm of the family through school settings communities and large governmental jurisdictions The papers in this issue lay the foundation for future avenues of inquiry and highlight some very important emergent research themes It is clear that family systems are attracting attention as potential environments for preventive interventions Historically families have been perceived as sources of alcohol problems and targets of treatment Now they are being viewed as possible protective systems and settings for deliberate intervention before alcohol related problems actually occur Handbook of Drug Abuse Prevention Zili Sloboda, William J. Bukoski, 2007-08-06 There are a number of reasons why this book is important First there is no one source that summarizes what we know about the prevention of substance abuse from the research field so the book serves as a repository of accumulated knowledge on prevention theory intervention design and development and prevention research methodology Second as an evolving field

prevention science has only begun to assert itself in both the arenas of practice and policy The formation of the Society for Prevention Research in 1991 was the first recognition that a science of prevention existed and required a separate forum to present the rapidly growing content of the field for discussion and review Finally there is a need to establish a baseline a reference point against which progress in the field of prevention science can be assessed This book serves all of these purposes The idea for this book grew from the observation in the early 1990s that after decades of attempts to develop effective interventions to prevent drug use among children and adolescents in the United States that we were finally having success particularly in addressing the initiation of use These successes are the result of research that has provided a better understanding of the factors and processes associated with the onset of substance use Chemical Dependency Carl Aaron McNeece, Diana M. DiNitto, 1998 Based on classes taught by the authors this textbook is designed as an examination of alcohol and drug abuse and dependence for social workers about to begin professional practice The four sections are titled theories models and definitions intervention prevention and public policy chemical Journal of Research on Minority Affairs ,1995 Substance Abuse II. Joan Nordquist, 1990 Perspectives on Alcohol Abuse ,1988 Ethnic Minority Health Craig Haynes, 1997 This guide encompasses in one volume various minority health issues for the four major US ethnic minority groups Native Americans Alaska Natives African Americans Hispanic Americans and Asian Pacific Islander Americans Features nine quick access sections that are divided first by material format or broad subject area and then by ethnic group provides a valuable service A bibliography such as this introduces the reader to the literature on a specific topic
