What Parents Need to Know about Teens David A. Wolfe, 2007. As a parent, you want practical, accurate and user friendly information to help raise your teen. You want to know what's considered normal adolescent behaviour, how to determine whether your child is on a good path, how to encourage your teen's healthy development and how to get help when problems arise. What Parents Need to Know about Teens is an easy to read booklet that addresses these issues. Author David A. Wolfe is a clinical psychologist who has worked with children and teens for more than 25 years. He holds the RBC Chair in Children's Mental Health at the Centre for Addiction and Mental Health. In his work, Dr. Wolfe has often encountered parents who describe feeling overwhelmed with the problems their teenage children bring home, especially when some of these difficulties didn't exist when they were growing up themselves. This booklet is a response to parents' concerns. Written in chatty down-to-earth language, What Parents Need to Know about Teens addresses the facts and myths of teen life and teens' relationships with parents. The booklet focuses on strategies to help parents prepare teens for new responsibilities and the pressures that may accompany them. Each section of the booklet is devoted to a different parenting strategy: 1. Be an effective parent. Balance sensitivity and firmness. 2. Place an emphasis on safety, responsibility and obeying rules. 3. Teach, don't just criticize. 4. Understand your teen's development and how it affects your relationship. 5. Understand the pressures and the risks your teen faces.

How Do You Hug a Cactus? Reflective Parenting with Teenagers in Mind Sheila Redfern, 2024-03-21. Have you ever wondered what's going on in your teenager's mind? This engaging book will give you the tools to understand just that to ultimately help you keep the close connection you both need during these tricky years. Following on from her acclaimed book for parents of younger children, Sheila Redfern brings the reflective parenting model to parents of teenagers. Teenagers can be experienced as prickly and hard to get close to, like a cactus, but Dr. Redfern shows us how this stage of your child's life can be more enjoyable and connected than you'd imagined. Rather than focusing on their behaviours, this book emphasises how we can teach teenagers to manage their feelings and relationships in safe ways. It advocates theories underpinning reflective parenting, mentalizing, attachment and neuroscience as essential for building resilience and security in young people, which is crucial through the storm and stress of adolescence. Chapters are filled with everyday relatable scenarios and practical advice on pressing issues such as self-harm, social media and gaming risk, and ASD. There is also a chapter devoted to adoptive parents and foster carers. This practical guide aims to help readers become more reflective and available as parents and understand what might be in their teenager's head. It also serves as an essential resource for clinicians working with families.

How to Talk with Your Kids about Sex John T. Chirban, 2012. Dr Chirban helps parents know when, how and how much, and stresses the vital importance of their role in sex education. He uses humor, compassion and real-life examples to prepare parents for healthy and ongoing conversations that equip their kids to own their own sexuality and provide an understanding of the larger issues of relationships.

Community Collaborative Partnerships Mary M. McKay, Roberta L. Paikoff, 2012-12-06. Find out how best to develop HIV prevention programs that work. Community Collaborative Partnerships: The Foundation for HIV Prevention Research Efforts is a must-read for anyone interested in developing prevention programs within high-risk urban environments. Illustrative case studies, quality research, revealing personal stories and helpful tables and figures provide valuable insights on innovative ways to partner in the prevention of the spread of HIV in youths. Leading experts in the field offer practical strategies to dissolve the distrust individuals in a community hold for researchers, not a part of that community, fostering an effective collaboration to deal with problems. The book also describes ways to go beyond the United States model to reveal how to replicate the same dynamic relationships in international communities. Active participation with the community and families has been found to be vital for the success of HIV/AIDS prevention efforts. Community Collaborative Partnerships: The Foundation for HIV Prevention Research Efforts solves the common problem of forcing ineffective program models onto an unreceptive community. Program developers get the necessary tools to develop relationships and cultivate substantive input from those in the community to help ensure better program results. The research here is up-to-date and the suggestions invaluable.

Topics in Community Collaborative Partnerships: The Foundation for HIV Prevention Research Efforts include the role of parenting in mental health and HIV risk, research findings about frequency of sexual intercourse among adolescents, racial socialization and family role in HIV knowledge, family influences on exposure to situations of sexual possibility, preadolescent risk behavior, influence on parental monitoring, strategies for collaboration between community and academic HIV prevention researchers involving urban parents as collaborators in HIV prevention research, motivators and barriers to participation of minority families in a prevention program, transferring a university-led HIV prevention program to the community, Trinidad and Tobago HIV/AIDS prevention using a family-based program and much more. Community Collaborative Partnerships: The Foundation for HIV
