Prescription For Today's Missionary:

The Daily Life; Or, Precepts and Prescriptions for Christian Living John Cumming, 1854      Prescription for Today's Missionary Kenneth S. Roundhill, 1999      The Gospel and Pluralism Today Scott W. Sunquist, Amos Yong, 2015-10-06 This collection of essays explores the legacy of Lesslie Newbigin's classic work The Gospel in a Pluralist Society critically analyzing the nature of Western pluralism and discussing the influence of Newbigin's work on the field of missiology. By looking backward this volume advances a vision for Christian witness in the pluralistic world of the twenty-first century.

The Missionary Family Betty Jo Kenney, 1983      The Missionary Review of the World, 1936      The Missionary Herald of the Baptist Missionary Society, 1898      Missionary Review of the World, 1899      A Mission Divided Dr Kirstie Close-Barry, 2015-12-02 This book provides insight into the long process of decolonisation within the Methodist Overseas Missions of Australasia, a colonial institution that operated in the British colony of Fiji. The mission was a site of work for Europeans, Fijians, and Indo-Fijians, but each community operated separately as the mission was divided along ethnic lines in 1901. This book outlines the colonial concepts of race and culture as well as antagonism over land and labour that were used to justify this separation. Recounting the stories told by the mission's leadership, including missionaries and ministers to its grassroots membership, this book draws on archival and ethnographic research to reveal the emergence of ethno-nationalisms in Fiji, the legacies of which are still being managed in the post-colonial state today. Analysing in part the story of her own ancestors, Kirstie Barry develops a fascinating account of the relationship between Christian proselytization and Pacific nationalism, showing how missionaries reinforced racial divisions between Fijian and Indo-Fijian, even as they deplored them. Negotiating the intersections between evangelisation, anthropology, and colonial governance, this is a book with resonance well beyond its Fijian setting. Professor Alan Lester, University of Sussex. This thoroughly researched and finely crafted book unwraps and finely illustrates the interwoven layers of evolving complexity in different interpretations of ideals and debates on race, culture, colonialism, and independence that informed the way the Methodist Mission was run in Fiji. It describes the human personalities and practicalities interconnected at local, regional, and global levels, which influenced the shaping of the Mission and the independent Methodist Church in Fiji. It documents the influence of evolving anthropological theories and ecumenical theological understandings of culture on mission practice. The book's rich sources enhance our understanding of the complex history of ethnic relations in Fiji, helping to explain why ethnic divisive thinking remains a challenge. Jacqueline Ryle, University of the South Pacific. A beautifully researched study of the transnational impact of South Asian bodies on nationalisms and church devolution in Fiji and an important resource for empire studies as a whole. Professor Jane Samson, University of Alberta, Canada.      Today's Choices for Tomorrow's Mission David J. Hesselgrave, 1988      The Chinese Recorder and Missionary Journal, 1884      The Essence of the New Testament Elmer L. Towns, Ben Gutiérrez, 2012-09-01 The Essence of the New Testament surveys the books from Matthew to Revelation. Based on decades of
