

A close-up photograph of a person's hands and forearms. They are wearing a white, long-sleeved button-down shirt. On the left cuff, there is a prominent red lipstick smudge. The person's hands are positioned in front of them, holding a broken diamond ring. The ring is split into two pieces, one held in the right hand and the other in the left hand, with a small gap between them. The background is dark and out of focus.

All the Pretty Things Edie Wadsworth, 2016-09-01 The night the trailer burned down I think Daddy was the one who set it on fire For a long time Edie thought she had escaped It started in an Appalachian trailer park where a young girl dreamed of becoming a doctor But every day Edie woke up to her reality a poverty stricken world where getting out seemed impossible Where at twelve years old she taught herself to drive a truck so she could get her drunk daddy home from the bar Where the grownups ate while the children went hungry Where when the family trailer burned down she couldn't be caught squawling over losing her things she just had to be grateful anyone had remembered to save her at all And at the center of it all there was her daddy She never knew when he would show up she learned the hard way that she couldn't count on him to protect her But it didn't matter All she wanted was to make him proud Against all odds Edie made doctor achieving everything that had once seemed beyond her reach But her past caught up with her and it would take her whole life burning down once again for Edie to be finally able to face the truth about herself her family and her relationship with God Readers of The Glass Castle will treasure this refreshing and raw redemption story a memoir for anyone who has ever hungered for home forgiveness and the safe embrace of a father's love
