Realism Discourse And Deconstruction:

Realism Discourse and Deconstruction Jonathan Joseph, John Michael Roberts, 2004-05-05 The book addresses such issues as the work of Derrida and deconstruction discourse theory Eurocentrism and poststructuralism Critical Realism Hubert Buch-Hansen, Peter Nielsen, 2020-08-29 Winner Cheryl Frank Memorial Prize for innovative writing on critical realism This new textbook offers a succinct yet broad introduction to critical realism an increasingly popular approach to the philosophy of science that provides a holistic alternative to both positivism and postmodernism This text sets out the central concepts arguments and understandings in critical realism and relates them to social scientific practice In addition to answering the question what is critical realism the authors consider critical realism in light of two crucial themes in contemporary society neoliberalism and climate change which run as common threads throughout the chapters While some introductions to the topic focus exclusively on the work of Roy Bhaskar critical realism s best known proponent this text covers a much wider range of thinkers and social researchers and also features Key Concept boxes and CR in Action boxes throughout to aid the reader through this complex yet rewarding subject This text is the perfect entry point for all those studying critical realism for the first time or for those seeking to re familiarise themselves with this approach Whether you re studying critical realism as part of a broader course on the philosophy of science or seeking to apply critical realist methods to a particular research project this book is essential reading for the social sciences humanities and beyond Social Emergence in International Relations Maren Wagner, 2016-10-03 This book presents a conceptualization of social emergence in international relations as a novel angle to analyse institutional dynamics in East Asia introducing the concept of emergence from a critical realist perspective The author examines East Asia s characteristic mesh work of regional institutions that affect integrative processes and regional policies exploring how such institutions emerge and acquire their own nature and why this pattern persists over time an unresolved and contested subject in the field of International Relations This book suggests that regional institutions are emergent entities of the international system that arise as forms of self organization by states to achieve certain emergent properties and powers The author s approach sheds light on the particular emergent properties and powers of regional institutions and identifies discourse as a key mechanism of social emergence Besides engaging in relevant questions of the philosophy of science and its methodological implications for studying social emergence in world politics the book also analyses the concrete case of two East Asian regional institutions ASEAN Plus Three and the East Asia Summit This book will engage scholars and postgraduate students of Asian Studies and International Relations Method in Social Science Andrew Sayer, 2010-12-31 In its second edition Method in Social Science was widely praised for its penetrating analysis of central questions in social science discourse This revised edition comes with a new preface and a full bibliography The book is intended for students and researchers familiar with social science but having little or no previous experiences of philosophical and methodological discussion and for those who are interested in realism and method Qualitative Methods in Migration Studies Theodoros Iosifides, 2011 Recent years have witnessed growing interest in a series of issues related to migration including identity formation and change the role of social capital and social networks ethnic discrimination racism and xenophobia socio political participation and mobilisation and the complex nature of the causal mechanisms linked to migration issues that are better highlighted and investigated using qualitative methods Moving away from the quantitative and empiricist positivist approaches that have often characterised migration research Qualitative Methods in Migration Studies explores in a concise but comprehensive way the key issues involved in researching migratory phenomena in a qualitative manner It addresses themes including the basic characteristics of contemporary migration qualitative research into social processes related to migration and the relationship between theory research design and practice Drawing upon empirical case studies and a series of real and hypothetical examples this book develops a critical realist alternative both to empiricism and interpretivist social constructionist and post structuralist relativism in qualitative migration research With special emphasis on the meta theoretical dimensions of qualitative research practice this volume connects qualitative findings to policy formation and politics making exploring the multiple dimensions involved in researching migratory phenomena such as ontology epistemology methodology ethics and research practice As such it will be of interest to students and researchers in migration across the social sciences Sociological Cultural Studies G. McLennan, 2006-10-10 In a systematic and comprehensive analysis of the relationship between sociology and cultural studies Gregor McLennan lucidly guides us from central philosophical questions in the social sciences to new interpretations of such urgent contemporary questions as Eurocentrism multiculturalism and reflexivity Struggles for Hegemony in Italy's Crisis Management Daniela Caterina, 2018-09-25 This book investigates the struggles for hegemony and a possible crisis of crisis management at the core of Italy's political economy With a specific focus on the conflict over the 2012 labour market reform the book also explores the country's trajectory in the area of economic and social reproduction It presents a framework for critical policy analysis that draws on cultural political economy and explores its potential synergies with complementary approaches such as historical materialist policy analysis and critical discourse analysis Readers will gain an understanding of crisis dynamics in the aftermath of 2008 and insights into related political reactions The book will also help them develop the analytical tools needed to make sense of these puzzling phenomena

Rendering French Realism Lawrence R. Schehr, 1997-07-01 Realist novels are usually seen as verisimilar representations of the world and even when that verisimilitude is critically examined as it has been by Marxist and feminist critics the criticism has referred to extra literary matters such as bourgeois ideology or defects in the portrayal of women This book takes as its thesis that the point defining realism is the point at which the processes of representation break down a sort of black hole of textuality a rent in the tissue The author argues that our notions of continuity of readability of representability or our ideas about unity and ideological shift or even our notions of what is hidden occulted or absent all come from the nineteenth century realist model itself. Instead of assuming representability the author argues that we should look at places where the texts do not continue the representationalist model where there is a sudden falling off an abyss. Instead of seeing that point as a shortcoming the author argues that it is equal to the mimetic successes of representation. After an initial chapter dealing with the limits and ruptures of textuality the book considers the work of Stendhal from its early state as a precursor to the later realism to La Chartreuse de Parme which shows how the act of communication for Stendhal is always made of silences, gaps and interruptions. The author then reads several works of Balzac showing how he while setting up the praxes of continuity on which his oeuvre depends ruptures the works at various strategic points. In a chapter entitled Romantic Interruptions works of Nerval and the younger Dumas seemingly unrelated to the realist project are shown to be marked by the ideological, representational and semiotic assumptions that produced Balzac. The book concludes with Flaubert looking both at how Flaubert incessantly makes things unfit and how critics even the most perspicacious postmodern ones often try to smooth over the permanent crisis of rupture that is the sign of Flaubert's writing.

Politics, Policy and the Discourses of Heritage in Britain Emma Waterton, 2010-10-27 This book offers a critique of the dominant conceptualization of heritage found in policy which tends to privilege the white middle and upper classes. Using Britain as an illustration Waterton explores how and why recent policies continue to lean towards the predictable melding of cultural diversity with tendencies of assimilation.

Critical Realism and the Social Sciences Frank Pearce, Jon Frauley, 2007-12 Critical Realism and the Social Sciences brings together contributors from both sides of the Atlantic all of whom engage with tenets of critical realism juxtaposing them with traditional representations of social scientific enquiry.

Realism in Asia Yeo Wei Wei, 2010 What is the place of realism in Asian art histories? What is the real? How do reality and realism relate and differ? The six essays in the present volume explore the manifestations of realism in Asian art relating this art of description to issues of colonialism, world and civil wars, nation building, religion and contemporary culture in Asia.

L'Esprit Créateur, 1991 A stylistic deconstruction of D.H. Lawrence's "Piano" Felix Moses, 2010 Wissenschaftlicher Aufsatz aus dem Jahr 2010 im Fachbereich Anglistik/Linguistik, Madras Christian College, Sprache Deutsch. Abstract: This article demonstrates the use of stylistics in deconstructing D. H. Lawrence's Piano. A careful and complete analysis of one schematically foregrounded style marker, the concrete countable noun piano, which has been incrementally repeated thrice, provides persuasive evidence of the overall value of stylistics as a bridge discipline. Leech 2 between linguistics and literary theory to enhance the appreciation of Lawrence's poetic artistry and genius. Incremental repetition, which by itself is probably the most readily identifiable of ballad characteristics, has been schematically foregrounded in the literary text Piano. The deconstructive analysis of this schematically foregrounded feature reveals the aporia and the impossibility of unravelling the various ambiguities which are easily overlooked in a commonsensical liberal humanist expressive realist reading of the poem.

Irzik,1990 Discourse and Reproduction Basil B. Bernstein,1995 Basil Bernstein was one of the most important figures in British sociology his ideas having inspired a great deal of empirical research and theoretical speculation throughout the world The purpose of this collection however is not to collect memoirs and celebrations of Bernstein It contains a collection of work by authors who are concerned with contemporary issues and analyses Each author represented has to some extent been influenced by Bernstein and thus uses Bernstein s ideas as a point of departure as well as to develop original analyses and perspectives All of the chapters in this volume are original and each chapter is intended to make a contribution to the sociology of education and educational thought A Baltic League as a Construct of the New Europe Marko Lehti,1999 The emergence of the idea of Baltic Sea unity and of Baltic cooperation seem to be the issues which unify the two big epoch making periods the end of the First World War and the end of the Cold War In both periods the Baltic Sea connection has been seen to offer a coordinate for remapping the location of the eastern Baltic nations the Estonians and Latvians in particular Why has the Baltic Sea area played so important a role as a construct of the new Europe This is the question examined in this study which focuses on the period after the First World War when the disintegration of European multinational empires meant a shift in the international system from the hegemony of a few great powers to the heterogeneity of small states As a part of this process the concepts of sovereignty and national self determination were redefined by the small states themselves so that they would manage to find their place in the world of the great powers One expression of this transition period was a lively Baltic cooperation which attained an exceptional pitch of intensity in the Europe of its time China Perspectives ,2009 Nature, Social Relations and Human Needs Ted Benton,2009 Bringing together some of the most eminent thinkers in the field this book celebrates the seminal contribution of Ted Benton to such pressing themes as realism naturalism and the philosophy of the social sciences the continuing relevance of Marxism philosophical anthropology and human needs and ecology society and natural limits
