Reality Idealism:

Idealism Tyron Goldschmidt, Kenneth L. Pearce, 2017-12-08 Idealism is a family of metaphysical views each of which gives priority to the mental. The best known forms of idealism in Western philosophy are Berkeleyan idealism which gives ontological priority to the mental minds and ideas over the physical bodies and Kantian idealism which gives a kind of explanatory priority to the mental the structure of the understanding over the physical the structure of the empirical world. Although idealism was once a dominant view in Western philosophy it has suffered almost total neglect over the last several decades. This book rectifies this situation by bringing together seventeen essays by leading philosophers on the topic of metaphysical idealism. The various essays explain, attack or defend a variety of idealistic theories including not only Berkeleyan and Kantian idealisms but also those developed in traditions less familiar to analytic philosophers including Buddhism and Hassidic Judaism. Although a number of the articles draw on historical sources all will be of interest to philosophers working in contemporary metaphysics. This volume aims to spark a revival of serious philosophical interest in metaphysical idealism.

Manifest Reality Lucy Allais, 2015-09-03 At the heart of Immanuel Kant's critical philosophy is an epistemological and metaphysical position he calls transcendental idealism. The aim of this book is to understand this position. Despite the centrality of transcendental idealism in Kant's thinking in over two hundred years since the publication of the first Critique there is still no agreement on how to interpret the position or even on whether and in what sense it is a metaphysical position. Lucy Allais argues that Kant's distinction between things in themselves and things as they appear to us has both epistemological and metaphysical components. He is committed to a genuine idealism about things as they appear to us but this is not a phenomenalist idealism. He is committed to the claim that there is an aspect of reality that grounds mind dependent spatio temporal objects and which we cannot cognize but he does not assert the existence of distinct non spatio temporal objects. A central part of Allais's reading involves paying detailed attention to Kant's notion of intuition and its role in cognition. She understands Kantian intuitions as representations that give us acquaintance with the objects of thought. Kant's idealism can be understood as limiting empirical reality to that with which we can have acquaintance. He thinks that this empirical reality is mind dependent in the sense that it is not experience transcendent rather than holding that it exists literally in our minds. Reading intuition in this way enables us to make sense of Kant's central argument for his idealism in the Transcendental Aesthetic and to see why he takes the complete idealist position to be established there. This shows that reading a central part of his argument in the Transcendental Deduction as epistemological is compatible with a metaphysical idealist reading of transcendental idealism.
