Lewis* David K. Lewis, 2020-10-29 David Kellogg Lewis 1941 2001 was one of the most influential philosophers of the twentieth century He made significant contributions to almost every area of analytic philosophy including metaphysics philosophy of language philosophy of mind and philosophy of science and set the agenda for various debates in these areas which carry on to this day In several respects he remains a contemporary figure yet enough time has now passed for historians of philosophy to begin to study his place in twentieth century thought His philosophy was constructed and refined not just through his published writing but also crucially through his life long correspondence with fellow philosophers including leading figures such as D M Armstrong Saul Kripke W V Quine J J C Smart and Peter van Inwagen His letters formed the undercurrent of his published work and became the medium through which he proposed many of his well known theories and discussed a range of philosophical topics in depth A selection of his vast correspondence over a 40 year period is presented here across two volumes As metaphysics is arguably where Lewis made his greatest contribution this forms the focus of Volume 1 Arranged under the broad areas of Causation Modality and Ontology the letters offer an organic story of the origins development breadth and depth of his metaphysics in its historical context as well as a glimpse into the influence of his many interlocutors This volume will be an indispensable resource for contemporary metaphysics and for those interested in the Lewisian perspective      Neo-Aristotelian Perspectives in Metaphysics Daniel D. Novotný, Lukáš Novák, 2014-04-16 This volume re-examines some of the major themes at the intersection of traditional and contemporary metaphysics The book uses as a point of departure Francisco Suarez's Metaphysical Disputations published in 1597 Minimalist metaphysics in empiricist pragmatist clothing have today become mainstream in analytic philosophy Independently of this development the progress of scholarship in ancient and medieval philosophy makes clear that traditional forms of metaphysics have affinities with some of the streams in contemporary analytic metaphysics The book brings together leading contemporary metaphysicians to investigate the viability of a neo Aristotelian metaphysics Philosophical Letters of David K. Lewis David Kellogg Lewis, 2020 The life long correspondence of David K Lewis one of the most influential philosophers of the twentieth century reveals the development breadth and depth of his philosophy in its historical context The first of this two volume collection of letters focuses on his contributions to metaphysics arguably where he made his greatest impact Canadian Journal of Philosophy, 1985

Physicalism in Mathematics A.D. Irvine, 1989-12-31 This collection of papers has its origin in a conference held at the University of Toronto in June of 1988 The theme of the conference was Physicalism in Mathematics Recent Work in the Philosophy of Mathematics At the conference papers were read by Geoffrey Hellman Minnesota Yvon Gauthier Montreal Michael Hallett McGill Hartry Field USC Bob Hale Lancaster St Andrew's Alasdair Urquhart Toronto and Penelope Maddy Irvine This volume supplements updated versions of six of those papers with contributions by Jim Brown Toronto John Bigelow La Trobe John Burgess Princeton Chandler Davis Toronto David Papineau Cambridge Michael Resnik North Carolina at Chapel Hill Peter Simons Salzburg and Crispin Wright St Andrews Michigan Together they provide a vivid expansive snapshot of the exciting work which is currently being carried out in philosophy of mathematics Generous financial support for the original conference was provided by the Social Sciences Humanities Research Council of Canada the British Council and the Department of Philosophy together with the Office of Internal Relations at the University of Toronto Additional support for the production of this volume was gratefully received from the Social Sciences Humanities Research Council of Canada Realismus und Antirealismus, 1992 Properties D. H. Mellor, Alex Oliver, 1997 When we say a certain rose is red we seem to be attributing a property redness to it But are there really such properties If so what are they like how do we know about them and how are they related to the objects which have them and the linguistic devices which we use to talk about them This collection presents these ancient problems in a modern light In particular it makes accessible for the first time the most important contributions to the contemporary controversy about the nature of properties Those new to the subject will find the clearly written introduction by two experts in the field an invaluable guide to the intricacies of this debate The volume illustrates very well the aims and methods of modern metaphysics and show how a thorough understanding of the metaphysics of properties is crucial to most of analytic philosophy      The Philosopher's Index ,2006

Strauss,Michelle Botting,2000 This title presents reflections on the significance of Dooyeweerd s philosophy by academics from five continents and eight countries      Arts & Humanities Citation Index ,1997      Philosophy In The Flesh George Lakoff,1999-10-08 What are human beings like How is knowledge possible What is truth Where do moral values come from Questions like these have stood at the center of Western philosophy for centuries In addressing them philosophers have made certain fundamental assumptions that we can know our own minds by introspection that most of our thinking about the world is literal and that reason is disembodied and universal that are now called into question by well established results of cognitive science It has been shown empirically that Most thought is unconscious We have no direct conscious access to the mechanisms of thought and language Our ideas go by too quickly and at too deep a level for us to observe them in any simple way Abstract concepts are mostly metaphorical Much of the subject matter of philosophy such as the nature of time morality causation the mind and the self relies heavily on basic metaphors derived from bodily experience What is literal in our reasoning about such concepts is minimal and conceptually impoverished All the richness comes from metaphor For instance we have two mutually incompatible metaphors for time both of which represent it as movement through space in one it is a flow past us and in the other a spatial dimension we move along Mind is embodied Thought requires a body not in the trivial sense that you need a physical brain to think with but in the profound sense that the very structure of our thoughts comes from the nature of the body Nearly all of our unconscious metaphors are based on common bodily experiences Most of the central themes of the Western philosophical tradition are called into question by these findings The Cartesian person with a mind wholly separate from the body does not exist The Kantian person capable of moral action according to the dictates of a universal reason does not exist The phenomenological person capable of knowing his or her mind entirely through introspection alone does not exist The utilitarian person the Chomskian person the poststructuralist person the computational person and the person defined by analytic philosophy all do not exist Then what does Lakoff and Johnson show that a philosophy responsible to the science of mind offers radically new and detailed understandings of what a person is After first describing the philosophical stance that must follow from taking cognitive science seriously they re examine the basic concepts of the mind time causation morality and the self then they rethink a host of philosophical traditions from the classical Greeks through Kantian morality through modern analytic philosophy They reveal the metaphorical structure underlying each mode of thought and show how the metaphysics of each theory flows from its metaphors Finally they take on two major issues of twentieth century philosophy how we conceive rationality and how we conceive language      Philosophy of Science Association Newsletter Philosophy of Science Association,1984      Arguing about the Mind Brie Gertler,Lawrence A. Shapiro,2007 An accessible and engaging introductory reader that explores a broad range of topics and key arguments on
