Reason, Religion, and Natural Law Jonathan A. Jacobs,2012-10-19 This edited volume examines the realizations between theological considerations and natural law theorizing from Plato to Spinoza Theological considerations have long had a pronounced role in Catholic natural law theories but have not been as thoroughly examined from a wider perspective The contributors to this volume take a more inclusive view of the relation between conceptions of natural law and theistic claims and principles They do not jointly defend one particular thematic claim but articulate diverse ways in which natural law has both been understood and related to theistic claims In addition to exploring Plato and the Stoics the volume also looks at medieval Jewish thought the thought of Aquinas Scotus and Ockham and the ways in which Spinoza s thought includes resonances of earlier views and intimations of later developments Taken as a whole these essays enlarge the scope of the discussion of natural law through study of how the naturalness of natural law has often been related to theses about the divine. The latter are often crucial elements of natural law theorizing having an integral role in accounting for the metaethical status and ethical bindingness of natural law. At the same time the question of the relation between natural law and God and the relation between natural law and divine command has been addressed in a multiplicity of ways by key figures throughout the history of natural law theorizing and these essays accord them the explanatory significance they deserve. Reason in religion George Santayana, 1928 Reason and Religion, 1672 The Interest of Reason in Religion ; with the Import & Use of Scripture-metaphors ; and the Nature of the Union Betwixt Christ & Believers ; ... Robert Ferguson, 1675

Griffiths, Reinhard Hütter, 2005-04-05 A distinguished group of scholars examines the crisis of faith in reason and reason in faith Reason, Religion, and Morals Frances Wright, 2020-11-12 Originally published as Course of Popular Lectures the works collected in this volume display the gift for oratory and range of progressive ideas that made Frances Wright 1795-1852 both a sought after lecturer and a controversial figure in early nineteenth century America. Born in Scotland this pioneering freethinker and abolitionist emigrated to America in her twenties and became friends with Thomas Jefferson and James Madison. In 1828 she joined Robert Dale Owen's socialist community at New Harmony, Indiana and helped him edit his New Harmony Gazette. The next year she and Owen moved to New York City where they published Free Enquirer which advocated liberalized divorce laws, birth control, free state run secular education and organization of the disadvantaged working class. It was at this time that she began delivering the popular lectures here collected. Some persistent themes that run throughout these well argued pieces are the importance of free impartial inquiry conducted in a scientific spirit and not influenced by religious superstition or popular prejudice, the need for better universal education that trains young minds in scientific inquiry rather than religious dogma, the advantage of focusing on the facts of the here and now rather than theological speculations and the failure of American society to live up to its noble ideals of equality and justice for all. With an insightful introduction by Wright scholar Susan S. Adams, Emeritus Professor of English, Northern Kentucky University, these stimulating lectures by an early feminist and freethinker will be of interest to students and scholars of women's studies, humanism and freethought. The Faith of Reason John White Chadwick, 1879 Reason in Religion George Santayana, 1926 An Earnest Appeal to Men of Reason and Religion.
