Military Medical Ethics in Contemporary Armed Conflict Michael L. Gross, 2021 Integrating the ethics of medicine and the ethics of war Military Medical Ethics in Contemporary Armed Conflict offers theorists and practitioners clinicians and commanders the tools they need to distribute scarce medical resources in wartime Emphasizing that military medicine's goal is to maintain unit readiness and the force capabilities necessary to wage just war Michael L. Gross instructs readers on when and how compatriot and host nation war fighters local civilians detainees and veterans should receive medical attention Readers will see how medicine functions also as a weapon of war To this end military forces deploy medical care to win local hearts and minds and harness medical science to enhance war fighter capabilities The Complete Guide to Sensible Eating Gary Null, 1998 Peace Lucien Sina, 2024-08-11 Explore the ebook version of Peace which provides an in depth examination of the various facets of peace and offers insights into creating lasting peace This digital book addresses topics such as peacebuilding conflict resolution and the intersection of peace with fields like psychology sociology and politics It equips readers with a comprehensive understanding of how to foster enduring peace The dual focus on analysis and practical application makes this ebook a valuable resource for those seeking to not only understand peace but also actively contribute to its realization Hurricane Katrina Cynthia A. Bascetta, 2007-08 In the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina questions remain concerning the availability of hospital inpatient care the Dept of Health 2 steps taken to reopen Charity 3 the activities that FEMA has undertaken to help hospitals recover Illustrations Liberal Peacebuilding and the Locus of Legitimacy David Roberts, 2016-02-05 Liberal peacebuilding too often builds neither peace nor Liberalism In a growing number of cases people aren't rejecting and relegating democracy because it's bad they're challenging it because it isn't relevant to their priorities and needs The peacebuilding moment when consent for intervention is present and the opportunity to build a sustainable social contract between peacebuilders and people is most fruitful is being squandered This relationship between governed and governance relies on mutual needs realization but there is no formal or informal requirement and mechanism for ascertaining what the subjects of peacebuilding might prioritize Instead peacebuilders give the subjects of peacebuilding what they think they should have This legitimacy gap between what peacebuilders give and what subjects want is the subject of this book Through a range of empirical case studies conducted by country specialists the book reveals that when asked people often prioritize roads electricity jobs housing schooling and pertinent justice amongst other things in the immediate aftermath of war We find that mapping this locus of legitimacy may help develop the kind of relationship upon which the sustainability of any social contract between governed and governance rests This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Intervention and Statebuilding Building America's Health: The people speak; excerpts from regional public hearings on health United States.
