Friday, 2004-01 A study of the institution of war in Japan over seven centuries War and State Building in Medieval Japan

John A. Ferejohn, Frances McCall Rosenbluth, 2010-04-20 The nation state as we know it is a mere four or five hundred years old Remarkably a central government with vast territorial control emerged in Japan at around the same time as it did in Europe through the process of mobilizing fiscal resources and manpower for bloody wars between the 16th and 17th centuries This book which brings Japan's case into conversation with the history of state building in Europe points to similar factors that were present in both places population growth eroded clientelistic relationships between farmers and estate holders creating conditions for intense competition over territory and in the ensuing instability and violence farmers were driven to make Hobbesian bargains of taxes in exchange for physical security Warfare in the Ancient Near East to 1600

BC William J. Hamblin, 2006-09-27 The only book available that covers this subject Warfare in the Ancient Near East is a groundbreaking and fascinating study of ancient near Eastern military history from the Neolithic era to the middle Bronze Ages Drawing on an extensive range of textual artistic and archaeological data William J Hamblin synthesizes current knowledge and offers a detailed analysis of the military technology ideology and practices of Near Eastern warfare Paying particular attention to the earliest known examples of holy war ideology in Mesopotamia and Egypt Hamblin focuses on recruitment and training of the infantry the logistics and weaponry of warfare the shift from stone to metal weapons the role played by magic narratives of combat and artistic representations of battle the origins and development of the chariot as military transportation fortifications and siegecraft developments in naval warfare Beautifully illustrated including maps of the region this book is essential for experts and non specialists alike Warfare, State and Society on the Black Sea Steppe, 1500-1700
