Demillo, 2011-08-26 How institutions of higher learning can rescue themselves from irrelevance and marginalization in the age of iTunes U and YouTube EDU. The vast majority of American college students attend two thousand or so private and public institutions that might be described as the Middle-reputable educational institutions but not considered equal to the elite and entrenched upper echelon of the Ivy League and other prestigious schools. In the age of iTunes, open source software and for-profit online universities there are new rules for higher education. DeMillo, who has spent years in both academia and in industry, explains how higher education arrived at its current parlous state and offers a road map for the twenty-first century. He describes the evolving model for higher education from European universities based on a medieval model to American land grant colleges to Apple's iTunes U and MIT's OpenCourseWare. He offers ten rules to help colleges reinvent themselves including: Don't romanticize your weaknesses and
