Agricultural extension in Central Asia: existing strategies and future needs Kazbekov, Jusipbek, Qureshi, Asad Sarwar, 2011-12-19. Agriculture is at the forefront of the development objectives of the republics of Central Asia. CA Since independence in 1991 these countries have undergone transitions from being centrally planned economies to market oriented systems which did not include the creation of agricultural extension systems. This paper provides information on the current status of the agricultural extension systems in CA with special reference to Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan and Uzbekistan. We reviewed the existing extension strategies donor and state driven initiatives to revitalize the agricultural extension systems, informal linkages that nongovernmental organizations play in helping a limited number of farmers and provided recommendations on ways to further improve the agricultural extension services in CA. The information related to each country was analyzed separately. This is because after independence each republic in CA had initiated their agricultural reforms with specific objectives and has now established their unique agricultural systems that differ contextually. However, due to having the same history and agricultural system that existed during the Soviet times we tried to give a historical perspective to the unified agricultural extension system that existed before independence.

Restructuring land allocation, water use and agricultural value chains John P. A. Lamers, Asia Khamzina, Inna Rudenko, Paul L. G. Vlek, 2015-01-28. Central Asia underwent an agricultural transformation in the 20th century that was neither efficient nor sustainable. There is a need for innovations that will remedy these deficits by reversing environmental degradation and ensuring poverty alleviation. This book provides science based findings and recommendations for restructuring land and water use and agricultural value chains to enable ecologically and economically sound practices that increase resource use efficiency, rehabilitate ecosystem functions and enhance rural incomes. Innovations were designed in concert with stakeholders. The prospective benefits are shown for the Khorezm region, part of the lower Amudarya region, Uzbekistan, but the findings can be extrapolated to regions facing similar agro-ecological challenges.

The Journal of Central Asian Studies, 2008. Landwirtschaftliche Transformation, Desertifikation und nachhaltige Ressourcennutzung Elke Herrfahrdt, 2004. Abstract: In Usbekistan ist ein Desertifikationsprozess zu beobachten, der häufig durch ungeeignete landwirtschaftliche Produktionsmethoden verursacht wird. Die meisten der heute in der usbekischen Landwirtschaft bestehenden nicht nachhaltigen Nutzungsmuster haben ihren Ursprung in den institutionellen Rahmenbedingungen der sowjetischen Zeit. Der mit der Unabhängigkeit Usbekistans verbundene Transformations- und Reformprozess stellt eine Gelegenheit dar, diese Nutzungsmuster zugunsten nachhaltiger Strukturen und Produktionsmethoden zu ändern. Vor diesem Hintergrund untersucht die Studie den gegenwärtigen Stand der Reformen einschließlich der institutionellen Rahmenbedingungen und zeigt einige Perspektiven für mögliche weitere Schritte auf. Die Arbeit beruht hauptsächlich auf der Auswertung von Sekundärquellen. Daneben werden 2003/2004 Interviews sowohl mit

M. Swinnen,2008 The vast majority of the world s poorest households depend on farming for their livelihood During the 1960s and 1970s most developing countries imposed pro urban and anti agricultural policies while many high income countries restricted agricultural imports and subsidized their farmers Both sets of policies inhibited economic growth and poverty alleviation in developing countries Although progress has been made over the past two decades to reduce those policy biases many trade and welfare reducing price distortions remain between agriculture and other sectors as well as within the agricultural sector of both rich and poor countries Comprehensive empirical studies of the disarray in world agricultural markets first appeared approximately 20 years ago Since then the OECD has provided estimates each year of market distortions in high income countries but there has been no comparable estimates for the world s developing countries This volume is the first in a series other volumes cover Africa Asia and Latin America that not only fill that void for recent years but extend the estimates in a consistent and comparable way back in time and provide analytical narratives for scores of countries that shed light on the evolving nature and extent of policy interventions over the past half century Distortions to Agricultural Incentives in Europe s Transition Economies provides an overview of the evolution of distortions to agricultural incentives caused by price and trade policies in the economies of Eastern Europe and Central Asia that are transitioning away from central planning The book includes country and subregional studies of the ten transition economies of Central and Eastern Europe that joined the European Union in 2004 or 2007 of seven other large member countries of the Commonwealth of Independent States and of Turkey Together these countries comprise over 90 percent of the Europe and Central Asia region s population and GDP Sectoral trade and exchange rate policies in the region have changed greatly since the dissolution of the Soviet Union in 1991 but price distortions remain The new empirical indicators in these country studies provide a strong evidence based foundation for evaluating policy options in the years ahead Boosting Growth Japan International Cooperation Agency,2010
