Queer Universes Wendy Gay Pearson,Veronica Hollinger,Joan Gordon,2008-03-01 Contestations over the meaning and practice of sexuality have become increasingly central to cultural self definition and critical debates over issues of identity citizenship and the definition of humanity itself In an era when a religious authority can declare lesbians antihuman while some nations legalise same sex marriage and are becoming increasingly tolerant of a variety of non normative sexualities it is hardly surprising that science fiction in turn takes up the task of imagining a diverse range of queer and not so queer futures The essays in Queer Universes investigate both contemporary and historical practices of representing sexualities and genders in science fiction literature Queer Universes opens with Wendy Pearson s award winning essay on reading sf queerly and goes on to include discussions about sextrapolation in New Wave science fiction stray penetration in William Gibson s cyberpunk fiction the queering of nature in ecofeminist science fiction and the radical challenges posed to conventional science fiction in the work of important writers such as Samuel R Delany Ursula K Le Guin and Joanna Russ In addition Queer Universes offers an interview with Nalo Hopkinson and a conversation about queer lives and queer fictions by authors Nicola Griffith and Kelley Eskridge

The Hugo, Nebula and World Fantasy Awards

Howard DeVore,1998 Science fiction fans have voted for the Hugo Awards for best science fiction almost every year since 1953 Science fiction professionals have presented the Nebula Awards to their peers since 1965 In all this time lists of winners have been widely available but the losers have usually been ignored In 1970 long time fan Howard DeVore started publishing a complete listing of Hugo and Nebula awards including the stories that were nominated but did not win The fact that stories were nominated implied that they had considerable merit Mr DeVore felt that a complete listing would let fans compare them The International Fantasy Awards may have inspired the Hugos so he added them DeVore brought out new editions year by year publishing and distributing them himself with the aid of a number of devoted science fiction fans By 1998 the task had grown to the point where Mr DeVore happily relinquished the job to Advent This edition includes introductory and historical essays explaining how each award got started and how nominees and winners are chosen plus commentary in the yearly listings

PITFCS Theodore R. Cogswell, 1992-01-01 In 1959 the late Ted Cogswell started a fanzine for pros with the mock pompous title Publications of the Institute of Twenty First Century Studies soon known as PITFCS How is that pronounced Don't ask But if you insist Tony Boucher tells you in a limerick Its circulation was limited to science fiction writers and editors and its contents were mostly their letters discussing their own and each other's work PITFCS quickly became the place where s/f professionals talked to each other about the problems of the field both literary and economic The discussions were frank discerning insightful humorous occasionally a little insulting and even a bit bawdy PITFCS was where the pros could let their hair down a running bull session It lasted only a few years Cogswell had to give it up in order to write his doctoral dissertation Then the Science Fiction Writers of America was organized and SFWA's publications began filling the niche that PITFCS had occupied PITFCS was short lived but has been remembered with joy and Advent is proud to publish it This volume reprints PITFCS from first issue to last and adds an index which is perhaps more comprehensive than it needs to be However we have omitted most of the typos for which Ted Cogswell was famous His motto was PITFCS are never proofread Here are letters and essays as well as limericks and other verses from such science fiction notables as Brian Aldiss Poul Anderson Isaac Asimov James Blish Algis Budrys John W Campbell Arthur C Clarke Avram Davidson Gordon Dickson Harlan Ellison Harry Harrison Damon Knight Fritz Leiber Frederik Pohl Eric Frank Russell Kurt Vonnegut and Don Wollheim Amazing and astounding to note this is not a period piece of only historical interest Most of the problems discussed in PITFCS are still living issues today It seems the tensions between writers editors and publishers don't change The issues of PITFCS form a huge book of some 350 000 words 8 1/2 x 11 inch pages of small type in double columns for the delectation of the general science fiction readership

The New Encyclopedia of Science Fiction James E. Gunn, 1988 From 19th century beginnings to the cutting edge of Cyberpunk science fiction has powerfully gripped the modern imagination Gunn explores the fascinating landscape of how science fiction became what it is today An eye opener for every fan of the genre 8 pages of full color illustrations
