The Pimlico Encyclopedia of the Middle Ages Norman F. Cantor, 1999

From the fall of Rome to the beginning of the Renaissance this comprehensive encyclopedia presents the full pageant of medieval times across the entire Old World with articles on the New World Africa and the Far East as well Twenty major essays underpin the text while more than 600 entries provide specific information on everything from the Abbasid Dynasty and Peter Abelard to John Wycliffe and the Seal of Zug Interspersed throughout are maps diagrams and more than 250 colour and black and white illustrations which vividly display all the elements of everyday life such as travel commerce religion and royalty Also included are chronologies of important events glossaries of medieval terminology and jargon material on music science art crafts and legend genealogical charts and excerpts from the documents of the time Interest in the Middle Ages is stronger than ever as it becomes increasingly evident that the modern period has much more in common with the medieval world than was previously imagined No other reference work better illustrates this historical truth Authoritative entertaining and beautifully illustrated The Pimlico Encyclopedia of the Middle Ages is an indispensable guide to one of the great periods in human history The General Editor Norman Cantor is an internationally respected scholar of medieval history and the author of Inventing the Middle Ages The Civilization of the Middle Ages and Medieval Lives

People and Space in the Middle Ages, 300-1300 Wendy Davies, Guy Halsall, Andrew J. Reynolds, 2006 This book compares community definition and change in the temperate zones of southern Britain and northern France with the starkly contrasting regions of the Spanish meseta and Iceland Local communities were fundamental to human societies in the pre industrial world crucial in supporting their members and regulating their relationships as well as in wider society While geographical and biological work on territoriality is very good existing archaeological literature is rarely time specific and lacks wider social context most of its premises are too simple for the interdependencies of the early medieval world Historical work by contrast has a weak sense of territory and no sense of scale like much archaeological work there is confusion about distinctions and relationships between kin groups neighbourhood groups collections of tenants and small polities The contributors to this book address what determined the size and shape of communities in the early historic past and the ways that communities delineated themselves in physical terms The roles of the environment labour patterns the church and the physical proximity of residences in determining community identity are also examined Additional themes include social exclusion the community as an elite body and the various stimuli for change in community structure Major issues surrounding relationships between the local and the governmental are investigated did larger polities exploit pre existing communities or did developments in governance call local communities into being
