Shakespeare the Theatre Poet, 1970 Shakespeare the Theatre-poet Robert Hapgood, 1988 How subject to interpretation is Shakespeare The valid options his plays afford can seem infinite yet they are not This book comes fully to terms with Shakespeare's openness to interpretation while respecting the primacy of his creative presence Hapgood sees Shakespeare the theatre poet as making theatre not only by outlining an imaginary world but also by providing guidelines for its enactment and reception implying in each of his plays a distinctive rapport between the playwright the actors and the audience Hapgood demonstrates that these guidelines may be found through study of the range and limits of the options that each text affords and through close reading of several plays particularly Hamlet Othello King Lear and Macbeth he provides an aesthetic for Shakespeare's theatre poetry that includes the author along with the actors and audience in the event that occurs when a play is performed William Shakespeare Daniel E. on Poetry Andrew Cecil Bradley, 1909 Irish Essays and Others Matthew Arnold, 1882 Ecology and Literatures in English Françoise Besson, 2018-12-14 In all latitudes writers hold out a mirror leading the reader to awareness by telling real or imaginary stories about people of good will who try to save what can be saved and about animals showing humans the way to follow Such tales argue that in spite of all destructions and tragedies if we are just aware of and connected to the real world around us to the blade of grass at our feet and the star above our heads there is hope in a reconciliation with the Earth This may start with the emergence or rather the return of a nonverbal language restoring the connection between human beings and the nonhuman world through a form of communication beyond verbalization Through a journey in Anglophone literature with examples taken from Aboriginal African American English Canadian and Indian works this book shows the role played by literature in the protection of the planet It argues that literature reveals the fundamental idea that everything is connected and that it is only when most people are aware of this connection that the world will change Exactly as a tree is connected with all the animal life in and around it texts show that nothing should be separated From Shakespeare s theatre to ecopoetics from travel writing to detective novels from children s books to novels all literary genres show that literature responds to the violence destroying lands men and nonhuman creatures whose voices can be heard through texts
