HENRY V M. Quinn, Books in Motion Mireia Aragay, 2005 Books in Motion addresses the hybrid interstitial field of film adaptation The introductory essay integrates a retrospective survey of the development of adaptation studies with a forceful argument about their centrality to any history of culture any discussion that is of the transformation and transmission of texts and meanings in and across cultures The thirteen especially composed essays that follow organised into four sections headed Paradoxes of Fidelity Authors Auteurs Adaptation Contexts Intertexts Adaptation and Beyond Adaptation variously illustrate that claim by problematising the notion of fidelity highlighting the role played by adaptation in relation to changing concepts of authorship and auteurism exploring the extent to which the intelligibility of film adaptations is dependent on contextual and intertextual factors and making a claim for the need to transcend any narrowly defined concept of adaptation in the study of adaptation Discussion ranges from adaptations of established classics like A Tale of Two Cities Frankenstein Henry V Le temps retrouvé Mansfield Park Pride and Prejudice The Dead or Wuthering Heights to contemporary popular texts films like Bridget Jones's Diary Fools The Governess High Fidelity The Hours The Orchid Thief Adaptation the work of Doris D rrie the first Harry Potter novel film or the adaptations made by Alfred Hitchcock Stanley Kubrick and Walt Disney This book will appeal to both a specialised readership and to those accessing the dynamic field of adaptation studies for the first time interdisciplinary study of various textual interventions into the military realities of the late Elizabethan period Its major strength is its insistence on the discursive nature of militarism and the author convincingly uses literary and non literary texts including manuals and contemporary military correspondence to reconstruct the particular anxieties which surrounded the military exigencies of the 1590s a particularly fraught and unstable period of the aging queen s reign The literature of the art of war has been little studied by literary scholars despite their richly rhetorical nature Dr Taunton s analysis thus brings to light a neglected but culturally significant form of Renaissance textuality In doing so she is able to shed new light on the Renaissance drama which she shows to have responded sensitively and sometimes critically to these textual constructions of actual warfare and problematised the anxious idealisations of the military manuals The particular readings of plays here are richly rewarding for the scholar of Renaissance drama the significance of Henry s nocturnal surveillance of his own camp on the eve of the battle of Agincourt for example benefits immeasurably from being contextualised in the light of contemporary theories of encampment The role of the women in Tamburlaine s camp in Marlowe s plays is also given particular significance when viewed in the light of the contemporary proscriptions regarding the presence of women in camps during the military campaigns in the Low Countries In this study Dr Taunton makes appropriate and critically inflected use of Foucault s theories of surveillance Lefebvre s theories about the ideological production of social space and Michel de Certeau s theories of social practice are put to good use in her analysis of military strategy These theoretical perspectives are usefully combined with highly specific and well documented historical analyses Shakespeare: Henry V Michael Quinn, 1991-11-18

Shakespearean Scholarship Leslie O'Dell, 2002 Discusses works on Shakespeare that are of interest primarily to theatre professionals Shakespeare Jahrbuch, 1877 Most volumes include Shakespeare Bibliographie Shakespeare's History Plays Graham Holderness, 1992 The New Casebook on Shakespeare s second historical tetralogy is an anthology of contemporary criticism all produced within the last twenty years most within the last ten It aims to problematize rather than merely reflect traditional methods and assumptions
