Fleagle, 2016-12-05 For Junior Senior and Graduate courses in Human Evolution taught in anthropology and biology departments This book is the most comprehensive collection of cutting edge articles on human evolution Designed for use by students in anthropology paleontology and evolutionary biology this edited volume brings together the major ideas and publications on human evolution of the past three decades The book spans the entire scope of human evolution with particular emphasis on the fossil record including archaeological studies

Mixing Races Paul Lawrence Farber, 2021-04-27 Traces both historically and sociologically the changing attitudes on race mixing miscegenation in western culture clear well written and useful Journal of the History of Biology This book explores changing American views of race mixing in the twentieth century showing how new scientific ideas transformed accepted notions of race and how those ideas played out on college campuses in the 1960s In the 1930s it was not unusual for medical experts to caution against miscegenation or race mixing espousing the common opinion that it would produce biologically dysfunctional offspring By the 1960s the scientific community roundly refuted this theory Paul Lawrence Farber traces this revolutionary shift in scientific thought explaining how developments in modern population biology genetics and anthropology proved that opposition to race mixing was a social prejudice with no justification in scientific knowledge In the 1960s this new knowledge helped to change attitudes toward race and discrimination especially among college students Their embrace of social integration caused tension on campuses across the country Students rebelled against administrative interference in their private lives and university regulations against interracial dating became a flashpoint in the campus revolts that revolutionized American educational institutions Farber's provocative study is a personal one featuring interviews with mixed race couples and stories from the author's student years at the University of Pittsburgh As such Mixing Races offers a unique perspective on how contentious debates taking place on college campuses reflected radical shifts in race relations in the larger society A fascinating look at how evolutionary science has changed alongside social beliefs Midwest Book Review Will open the dialogue about social barriers and group identities Essential Choice

Understanding Race Rob DeSalle, Ian Tattersall, 2022-07-07 The human species is very young but in a short time it has acquired some striking if biologically superficial variations across the planet As this book shows however none of those biological variations can be understood in terms of discrete races which do not actually exist as definable entities Starting with a consideration of evolution and the mechanisms of diversification in nature this book moves to an examination of attitudes to human variation throughout history showing that it was only with the advent of slavery that considerations of human variation became politicized It then embarks on a consideration of how racial classifications have been applied to genomic studies demonstrating how individualized genomics is a much more effective approach to clinical treatments It also shows how racial stratification does nothing to help us understand the phenomenon of human variation at either the genomic or physical levels

Race? Ian Tattersall, Rob DeSalle, 2011-09-01 Race has provided the rationale and excuse for some of the worst atrocities in human history Yet according to many biologists physical anthropologists and geneticists there is no valid scientific justification for the concept of race To be more precise although there is clearly some physical basis for the variations that underlie perceptions of race clear boundaries among races remain highly elusive from a purely biological standpoint Differences among human populations that people intuitively view as racial are not only superficial but are also of astonishingly recent origin In this intriguing and highly accessible book physical anthropologist Ian Tattersall and geneticist Rob DeSalle both senior scholars from the American Museum of Natural History explain what human races actually are and are not and place them within the wider perspective of natural diversity They explain that the relative isolation of local populations of the newly evolved human species during the last Ice Age when Homo sapiens was spreading across the world from an African point of origin has now begun to reverse itself as differentiated human populations come back into contact and interbreed Indeed the authors suggest that all of the variety seen outside of Africa seems to have both accumulated and started reintegrating within only the last 50 000 or 60 000 years the blink of an eye from an evolutionary perspective The overarching message of Race Debunking a Scientific Myth is that scientifically speaking there is nothing special about racial variation within the human species These distinctions result from the working of entirely mundane evolutionary processes such as those encountered in other organisms

Der Neandertaler Martin Kuckenburg, 2005 Der Arch ologe tr gt eine Vielzahl von Indizien zusammen die daf r sprechen dass der Neandertaler dem anatomisch modernen Menschen in jeder Hinsicht ebenb rtig war

The Evolution Wars Michael Ruse, 2000 This award winning text draws on history science and philosophy to examine the development of evolutionary thought through the past two and a half centuries It s been more than 70 years since Clarence Darrow and William Jennings Bryan debated the controversial topic of evolution versus creation The Evolution Wars draws on history science and philosophy to examine the development of evolutionary thought through the past two and a half centuries It focuses on the great debates including the 19th century clash over the nature of classification and debates about the fossil record genetics and human nature Much attention is paid to external factors and the underlying motives of scientists In these pages you will meet Charles Darwin s ebullient grandfather Erasmus the contentious

Frenchmen Georges Cuvier and Geoffroy Saint Hilaire new creationist Phillip Johnson the brilliant J B S Haldane and many other stars of the debates Includes a collection of interesting photographs ranging from portraits to facsimiles of original texts Race Vincent Sarich, Frank Miele, 2004 Contends that race is a biologically real phenomenon with important consequences contrary to widespread and politically correct views that race doesn't matter or doesn't even exist

Immortal Monster Joseph Andriano, 1999-01-30 Imaginary beasts have figured prominently in literary works ever since the ancient world when these myths were first formulated But the nineteenth century witnessed the rise of science the discovery of geological findings that challenged the biblical myth of creation and the birth of Darwin's theory of evolution Since then monsters have evolved from supernatural creatures to natural ones endowed with exceptional size strength or intelligence This book explores both literary and cinematic texts that are especially explicit in their Darwinian portrayal of monstrous beasts though these creatures retain an archaic mythological quality The myth of Leviathan and Behemoth for instance is as central to Jaws as it is to Moby Dick indeed Jaws inherits the myth directly from Moby Dick as does King Kong These and other monster tales such as The Creature from the Black Lagoon and Grendel keep the ancient myth alive and relevant by recasting it in the context of biological and cultural evolution There is a pattern of alternating bestialization and anthropomorphism in many monster tales suggesting that these images are being displayed in repeated attempts to define who we are in relation to animals Thus the more beastly the monster the more insistently we erect the old paradigm of the Ladder of Being placing ourselves on a higher and separate rung but the more human like the creature the more readily we shift to the paradigm of the Tree of Life in which all creatures are more closely related Since the matter of distinctions between species also involves questions of race the monster myth is often conscripted to serve racist agendas But more often than not the myth has an anti racist subtext that undercuts the hierarchy The closing chapters of the volume consider the notion of artificial evolution in works such as The Island of Dr Moreau and human machine interaction in Gravity's Rainbow As fables of identity monster tales dramatize our anxieties and fears about our own animal nature and provide a means of coming to terms with our evolution The Prehistory of Africa Himla Soodyall, 2006 ANTIQUITY MARTIN

CARVER, 2003 Biological Anthropology Michael Alan Park, 2005 Africa in World History Erik Gilbert, Jonathan T. Reynolds, 2004 This groundbreaking text is the first to examine Africa in the wider context of world history The authors show that Africans not only have shaped their own destiny but also have played a central role in a number of grand narratives of global history In doing so the text encourages readers to reconsider many popular or oversimplified myths regarding Africa and Africans and to explore the many issues controversies and debate within the field of African study With numerous maps full color photos primary sources timelines and a lively engaging narrative Africa in World History is as vibrant and multifaceted as the continent itself International Journal for the Study of Southern African Literature and Languages , 2005 Journal of Geoscience Education , 2005
