Psychology W.J. Baker, Leendert P. Mos, Hans V. Rappard, Henderikus J. Stam, 2012-12-06 This volume constitutes the proceedings of the second biannual conference of the International Society for Theoretical Psychology see Epilogue held in Banff Alberta Canada April 20-25 1987 Thirty nine papers were presented during the four days of the conference including an invited address by Kenneth Gergen Unfortunately even after severely restricting the length of the written papers the required limitation on printed space permitted only 34 of these to be included in these proceedings While most of the papers required editorial adjustment the authors had final word on style and content The classification of conference papers tends to be somewhat arbitrary but we decided to structure the chapters under four headings philosophy metatheory methodology and theory By philosophy we refer primarily to issues in the philosophy of science as these pertain to the discipline of psychology Metatheory refers to theory drawing on the philosophy of science and having implications for methodology about psychological theories Methodology refers to both theory of inquiry and specific methods of investigation as these derive from philosophical and meta-theoretical considerations By theory we refer to both analyses of the foundations of extant theory including historical and sociological analyses and the advancement of substantive theory Current Issues in Theoretical Psychology W.J. Baker, M.E. Hyland, H. van Rappard, A.W. Staats, 1986-12-01 Current Issues in Theoretical Psychology Annals of Theoretical Psychology K.B. Madsen, Leendert P. Mos, 2013-11-11 As a follow up to Volume 7 contributors continue to explore the latest developments in developmental psychology Here researchers focus on the integration of theory and research and evaluates theoretical progress and advanced research Continuing with the successful format of previous volumes in Annals of Theoretical Psychology Volume 10 presents four major contributions each accompanied by commentaries and replies to commentaries Persönlichkeitstheorien: Alltagspsychologie und önlichkeitstheorien behandelt Annals of Theoretical Psychology Arthur W. Staats, Leendert P. Mos, 2012-12-06 I have been involved in constructing a unified theory for many years in considering the state of psychology's unity/disunity and in generally attempting to persuade our profession to work on its unification In this work I have had the opportunity to become acquainted with the works of a number of other psychologists whose statements indicated that they had something to say on these topics I saw also that it would be very productive for psychology to have these individuals address themselves to psychology's disunity/unity considered as a problem that should be confronted and addressed In 1983 I began to indicate that it was my intention to devote a book to the topic as seen through the eyes of a group of prominent psychologists concerned with related issues. It was very fortunate from my standpoint that Joseph Royce and later Leendert Mos who were editing this series were interested in this book. I accepted the former's invitation to do within the present series the book I had planned. Although I must assume responsibility for selection of the contributors for the book's organization and for the first editing of their papers for substance, Professor Mos offered to help in an editorial capacity and I am most grateful for his contributions to the formal editing. The volume is much improved as a result of his careful efforts which in one case involved rewriting material.

A History of Psychology in Metascientific Perspective K.B. Madsen, 1988-06-01 Two fields of interest are combined in this volume: the history of science and the theory or philosophy of science, metascience. The result is a history of psychology with emphasis placed upon a metascientific analysis of the work of fourteen psychologists from various periods. Each analysis is set in historical context; a period or school is discussed in each chapter together with a metascientific analysis of some major works from the respective period or school. The author employs a metascientific descriptive system or systematology developed during more than 30 years of work on comparative metascientific studies of about 50 psychological theories. The results of those studies have been published in previous works. These analyses are also used here for verifying T. S. Kuhn's much debated theory about the revolutionary development of sciences. The author revises Kuhn's theory and shows that it can be applied to the history of psychology. Thus in a Kuhnian sense psychology may be said to have had two normal periods and two periods of crisis leading to school formation.
