Racializing Class Classifying Race:

Racializing Class, Classifying Race P. Alexander, R. Halpern, 1999-12-14 The ten essays in this book explore the intersection of race and class in the study of labour on three continents Leading scholars examine the way in which working class identities took shape and changed over time in a variety of settings from the sea ports of southern Africa to the copper mining region of the American Southwest George Padmore and Decolonization from Below L. James, 2014-10-14 This book argues that the rising tide of anti colonialism after the 1930s should be considered a turning point not just in harnessing a new mood or feeling of unity but primarily as one that viewed empire racism and economic degradation as part of a system that fundamentally required the application of strategy to their destruction The Politics of Race and Racialisation in the Middle East Burcu Ozcelik, 2022-06-08 This book explores the extent to which race and racialisation offer us an explanatory framework to study the contemporary politics of identity in the Middle East today Most studies of the Middle East commonly presume that the race signifier is reserved for the juxtaposition of Black and White identity to which the Arab Persian and Turkish world counts itself as exterior Up until now few works on the Middle East have discussed race as central to their analysis This book works to remedy this shortcoming by extending the critical scholarship on race and racial subordination to the region's states and societies Crucially how does race interact with and confront other categories of identity such as gender religion sect and nationality What can a consideration of racialisation reveal about structures of oppression in the Middle East and evolving forms of belonging and dispossession Adopting race as the focus of enquiry allows us to unpack what we are really talking about when we talk about difference in the region the reproduction and resilience of power and the insidious harmful mutations of identity based discrimination in unequal societies The Politics of Race and Racialisation in the Middle East is a significant new contribution to racial and ethnic studies and will be a great resource for academics researchers and advanced students of sociology politics history social anthropology political and cultural geography The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies

Racialization Karim Murji, John Solomos, 2005 Racialization has become one of the central concepts in the study of race and racism This volume brings together international scholars to address key facets of the concept in a wide range of social and political arenas including gender relations policing urban communities youth cultures immigration and political life

Racializing Class, Classifying Race Peter Alexander (Dr), Rick Halpern, 1999 The ten essays in this book explore the intersection of race and class in the study of labour on three continents Leading scholars examine the way in which working class identities took shape and changed over time in a variety of settings from the sea ports of southern Africa to the copper mining region of the American Southwest Postcolonial Studies Across the Disciplines Jana Gohrisch, Ellen Grünkemeier, 2013-11-15 Bringing together contributions from various disciplines and academic fields this collection engages in interdisciplinary dialogue on postcolonial issues Covering African anglophone Romance and New World themes linguistic literary and cultural studies and historiography music art history and textile studies the volume raises questions of interdisciplinarity methodology and entangled histories The essays focus on the representation of slavery in the transatlantic world the USA Jamaica Haiti and the wider Caribbean West Africa and the UK Drawing on a range of historical sources material objects and representations they study Jamaican Creole African masks knitted objects patchwork sculpture newspapers films popular music and literature of different genres from the Caribbean West and South Africa India and Britain At the same time they reflect on theoretical problems such as intertextuality intermediality and cultural exchange and explore intersections postcolonial literature and transatlantic history postcolonial and African American studies postcolonial literary and cultural studies The final section keys in with the overall aim of challenging established disciplinary modes of knowledge production exploring schools and universities as locations of postcolonial studies Teachers investigate the possibilities and limits of their respective institutions and probe new ways of engaging with postcolonial concerns With its integrative interdisciplinary focus this collection addresses readers interested in understanding how colonization and globalization have influenced societies and cultures around the world Contributors Anja Bandau Sabine Broeck Sarah Fekadu Matthias Galler Janou Glencross Jana Gohrisch Ellen Gr nkemeier Jessica Hemmings Jan H sgen Johannes Salim Ismaiel Wendt Ursula Kluwick Henning Marquardt Dennis Mischke Timo M ller Mala Pandurang Carl Plasa Elinor Jane Pohl Brigitte Reinwald Steffen Runkel Andrea Sand Cecile Sandten Frank Schulze Engler Melanie Ulz Reinhold Wandel Tim Watson Jana Gohrisch and Ellen Gr nkemeier are based in the English Department of Leibniz University Hannover Germany where they research and lecture in British studies with a focus on postcolonial literatures and cultures

Writing and the British Working Class John Kirk,2003 Although many writers have insisted on the death of class and in particular the demise of the working class Twentieth Century Writing and the British Working Class draws extensively on the theoretical insights of Raymond Williams and the British cultural studies tradition to challenge suggestions that class is no longer relevant for literary analysis It examines how the lives and experiences of working class people have changed over the past century and how these changes have been depicted and explored in a range of fictional and non fictional texts John Kirk discusses representations of the British working class in a range of writing from Alan Bleasdale and James Kelman to Pat Barker and Jeanette Winterson He also offers a comparative study of two other key periods when the question of class loomed large the 1930s and the post war age of affluence as well as looking at how working class experiences and identities are filtered through ideas of race national belonging and gender Twentieth Century Writing and the British Working Class aims to re explore and re engage with sites of working class experience that have been neglected over recent years It contests many of the assumptions of contemporary cultural theory and will be essential reading for anyone interested in current debates about identity and class      Comparative Literature--east & West ,2000      Health and Healing in Comparative Perspective Elizabeth Dixon Whitaker,2006 This reader provides both fascinating comparative ethnographic detail and a theoretical framework for organizing and interpreting information about health While there are many health related fields represented in this book its core discipline is medical anthropology and its main focus is the comparative approach Cross cultural comparison gives anthropological analysis breadth while the evolutionary time scale gives it depth These two features have always been fundamental to anthropology and continue to distinguish it among the social sciences A third feature is the in depth knowledge of culture produced by anthropological methods such as participant observation involving long term presence in and research among a study population The first part of the book explores healing systems in different cultures the second and third provide a strong grounding in evolutionary and culture oriented analysis making clear the connections between biology and culture as they affect health the final part emphasizes case studies that apply the theoretical principles presented earlier to particular health topics For medical anthropology medical sociology public health nursing and medical training professionals      Irish and Polish Migration in Comparative Perspective Klaus Tenfelde,John Belchem,2002      Racial Union Julie Novkov,2008-02-21 Publisher Description      Northern Identities Neville Kirk,2000 This book will hold a general appeal for readers interested in the issue of social identity especially in its regional and local manifestations and engagements It will find a wide readership across the humanities and social sciences Jacket      Consensus Or Coercion? Lawrence Black,2001 Cultural Writing Political Science CONSENSUS OR COERCION offers a new perspective on post war British history and the welfare state It examines the relationship between the people and the state in areas as diverse as race relations housing social services political activism television and the family Focusing upon the notion of social cohesion the book argues that the British state s ability to represent itself as the crucial factor in the maintenance of this social cohesion has been of paramount importance to the state s continued existence     The British Working Class in the Twentieth Century John Kirk,2009 This title challenges suggestions that class is no longer relevant for literary analysis It examines how the lives and experiences of working class people have changed over the past century and how these changes have been depicted and explored in a range of fictional and non fictional texts and films
