Romanian Agriculture And Transition Toward The Eu:

Romanian Agriculture and Transition Toward the EU Kenneth J. Thomson, 2003-01-01 Of the ten Central and Eastern European countries that have applied for membership in the European Union Romania ranks among the largest and most impoverished Romania represents the final challenge in the European Union's enlargement to the east largely due to its major but underdeveloped agriculture and food sectors The agriculture industry which is a major component of the national economy extends its pervasive influence to both Romanian social life and environment Consequently the transition towards a market oriented economic system will pose new obstacles for the country's farmers processors traders and policymakers While identifying the impediments that surround Romanian agriculture and its inevitable progression towards transition is a simple task the challenges lie in recommending solutions Through careful analysis of numerous recent studies on reform policies in the Romanian agri food sector during its economic transition this comprehensive examination offers perspicacious suggestions and insights on the following topics in particular international trade credit for agricultural development price policies and rural development The conclusions reached are not only of domestic importance and application they are also of immediate relevance for many post socialist countries for which the agri food sector is a principal vehicle for rural development

The Common Agricultural Policy and Romanian Agriculture Jean Vasile Andrei, Mihaela Cristina Dragoi, 2019-08-27 The current evolution of the European economy suggests that in the near future research in agri food economy and agri food production and agricultural production systems and structures must be redesigned adapted and developed to respond to the lack of sustainability of agri food production systems and the current global food crisis This book analyses the agricultural paradigm transformations that occur as countries converge on the European agricultural model and what their impact is for sectoral development while emphasizing their contribution to the redefinition of rural agricultural communities and economy This book helps develop a theoretical framework by analysing the specialized empirical literature and techniques used in the field of agricultural economy research with a focus on the transformation of Romanian agriculture in order to become integrated and respond to the globalization of markets OECD Review of Agricultural Policies:

Romania 2000 OECD, 2000-09-29 This study of Romania's agricultural policies analyses developments from the dramatic events of December 1989 to the present day preparations for accession to the European Union

Agrifood Economics and Sustainable Development in Contemporary Society Popescu, Gabriel, 2018-08-17 Food sustainability is essential to the advancement and development of economies and societies worldwide However there is an ongoing lack of progress in this field due to the challenge of bridging the gaps between applied science policy and society Agrifood Economics and Sustainable Development in Contemporary Society provides emerging research exploring the theoretical and practical aspects of sustainable rural livelihood and applications within agricultural production Featuring coverage on a broad range of topics such as green economics organic farming and sustainable development from a nature vs nurture perspective this book is ideally designed for agricultural researchers professionals academicians policymakers and farmers seeking current research on sustainability in farming

Europe in the New World Economy: Opportunities and Challenges Luminita Chivu, Valeriu Ioan-Franc, George Georgescu, Ignacio De Los Ríos Carmenado, Jean Vasile Andrei, 2024-11-25 The transition from traditional economic patterns to a model marked by enhanced efficiency environmental responsibility and the adaptation to a new normal economic philosophy marks a pivotal moment in understanding Europe's economic ecosystem within the new world economy However the reliance on conventional economic philosophies has often overlooked the broader economic and social landscapes in which these paradigms operate This volume explores emerging research topics methodologies and techniques that are essential to understanding the global economy dynamics and growth patterns under crisis circumstances and persistent uncertainties Featuring contributions presented at the 2023 International Conference Economic Scientific Research Theoretical Empirical and Practical Approaches ESPERA held in Bucharest Romania in honor of the 50th Anniversary of the National Institute for Economic Research Costin C Kiritescu of the Romanian Academy this book offers theoretical and practical contributions as well as quantitative and qualitative analyses providing valuable inputs for the design of adequate strategies and policies aimed to address the future challenges and to capitalize on the emerged opportunities From sustainable development to digital innovation this book examines the dynamic landscape of European economics and underscores the significance of interdisciplinary approaches and technological advancements in fostering economic resilience and growth The contents of this book are of interest to scholars researchers students practitioners and policy makers in economics and business transformation

The Transition from Communism to the European Union David Turnock, 2009 Offers an overview of economic change in Romania and studies the transformation in industry energy and agriculture drawing on fieldwork in different parts of the country This book is suitable for students and researchers in the fields of regional economics and post communism and readers with an interest in Romania the Balkans or the EU

Integrated Development of Agriculture and Rural Areas in Central European Countries Sofii[a] Davidova, Sophia Davidova, Kai Bauer, Michael P. Cuddy, 2006 Integrated Development of Agriculture and Rural Areas in Central European Countries presents the exciting results of original research on the integrated development of agriculture and rural areas in the Czech Republic Hungary and Poland This edited collection includes academics from both Western and Central European Countries who worked together on a three year research project The project yielded unique data that covers different aspects of rural development both agriculture and non agricultural activities and is of special relevance owing to these countries status as new members of the European Union Following an introduction into the transition process and the current situations in each country variations in farm performance are analyzed a detailed look is taken at the rural development in the EU the role of non agricultural farm diversification is analyzed and the major findings of the research are presented This exceptional collection compiled by Davidova Bauer and Cuddy will appeal to scholars of agriculture and rural Pérez-López,José Alvarez,2005-08-04 The demise of the international socialist community led to a loss in preferential markets for Cuban sugar industry In response to the current crisis this volume gathers over a dozen recognized world experts on Cuban agroindustry to analyze specific topics and make recommendations that would reinvent the industry for effective transition to a free market environment Development of Agriculture and Rural Areas in Central and Eastern Europe European Association of Agricultural Economists. Seminar,2007 Determinants of Commercial Orientation and Sustainability of Agricultural Production of the Individual Farms in Romania Borbála E. Bálint,2006 Subsistence farming a widespread phenomenon in developing countries emerged as well in Central and East European and former Soviet Union countries during their transformation process from a centrally planned to a market economy Romania is one of the Eastern European countries with a large share of subsistence farmers where the commercialization of agriculture could be a means of reducing rural poverty and increasing the competitiveness of agriculture although with possibly detrimental effects on the environment The study examines which constraints should be addressed to promote commercial orientation and how commercial orientation and ecological sustainability are related Based on an agricultural household survey in 2003 and with the help of econometric analysis the research finds that against the conventional wisdom in the current Romanian context commercial orientation and ecological sustainability are positively related Moreover commercial orientation is negatively influenced by high transaction costs related to the lack of demand from processing factories and wholesalers as well as lack of cooperation
