Elizabeth however refuses his offer of marriage and he instead becomes engaged to her friend Charlotte Lucas. During this time Elizabeth encounters the charming George Wickham, a military officer. There is a mutual attraction between the two and he informs her that Darcy has denied him his inheritance. After Bingley abruptly departs for London, Elizabeth's dislike of Darcy increases as she becomes convinced that he is discouraging Bingley's relationship with Jane. Darcy, however, has grown increasingly fond of Elizabeth, admiring her intelligence and vitality. While visiting the now married Charlotte, Elizabeth sees Darcy who professes his love for her and proposes. A surprised Elizabeth refuses his offer and when Darcy demands an explanation, she accuses him of breaking up Jane and Bingley. Darcy subsequently writes Elizabeth a letter in which he explains that he separated the couple largely because he did not believe Jane returned Bingley's affection. He also discloses that Wickham, after squandering his inheritance, tried to marry Darcy's then 15-year-old sister in an attempt to gain possession of her fortune. With these revelations, Elizabeth begins to see Darcy in a new light. Shortly thereafter, the youngest Bennet sister, Lydia, elopes with Wickham. The news is met with great alarm by Elizabeth since the scandalous affair, which is unlikely to end in marriage, could ruin the reputation of the other Bennet sisters. When she tells Darcy, he persuades Wickham to marry Lydia, offering him money. Despite Darcy's attempt to keep his intervention a secret, Elizabeth learns of his actions. At the encouragement of Darcy, Bingley subsequently returns and he and Jane become engaged. Finally, Darcy proposes again to Elizabeth, who this time accepts.

Pride and Prejudice Jane Austen, 2018-03

A lady's imagination is very rapid; it jumps from admiration to love, from love to matrimony in a moment. There are few people whom I really love, and still fewer of whom I think well. The more I see of the world, the more am I dissatisfied with it, and every day confirms my belief of the inconsistency of all human characters, and of the little dependence that can be placed on the appearance of merit or sense. Vanity and pride are different things, though the words are often used synonymously. A person may be proud without being vain. Pride relates more to our opinion of ourselves, vanity to what we would have others think of us. There is a stubbornness about me that never can bear to be frightened at the will of others. My courage always rises at every attempt to intimidate me. I am the happiest creature in the world. Perhaps other people have said so before, but not one with such justice. I am happier even than Jane; she only smiles, I laugh. I have not the pleasure of understanding you. Mr. Bennet was among the earliest of those who waited on Mr. Bingley. He had always intended to visit him, though to the last always assuring his wife that he should not go, and till the evening after the visit was paid she had no knowledge of it. It was then disclosed in the following manner. Observing his second daughter employed in trimming a hat, he suddenly addressed her with, "I hope Mr. Bingley will like it, Lizzy." We are not in a way to know what Mr. Bingley likes, said her mother resentfully, since we are not to visit. But you forget, mamma, said Elizabeth, that we shall meet him at the assemblies, and that Mrs. Long promised to introduce him. I do not believe Mrs. Long will do any such thing. She has two nieces of her own. She is a selfish, hypocritical woman, and I have no opinion of her. No more have I, said Mr. Bennet, and I am glad to find that you do not depend on her serving you. Mrs. Bennet deigned not to make any reply but unable to contain herself began scolding one of her daughters Don't keep coughing so Kitty for Heaven's sake Have a little compassion on my nerves You tear them to pieces Kitty has no discretion in her coughs said her father she times them ill I do not cough for my own amusement replied Kitty fretfully When is your next ball to be Lizzy To-morrow fortnight Aye so it is cried her mother and Mrs Long does not come back till the day before so it will be impossible for her to introduce him for she will not know him herself Then my dear you may have the advantage of your friend and introduce Mr Bingley to her Impossible Mr Bennet impossible when I am not acquainted with him myself how can you be so teasing I honour your circumspection A fortnight's acquaintance is certainly very little One cannot know what a man really is by the end of a fortnight But if we do not venture somebody else will and after all Mrs Long and her nieces must stand their chance and therefore as she will think it an act of kindness if you decline the office I will take it on myself The girls stared at their father Mrs Bennet said only Nonsense nonsense What can be the meaning of that emphatic exclamation cried he Do you consider the forms of introduction and the stress that is laid on them as nonsense I cannot quite agree with you there What say you Mary For you are a young lady of deep reflection I know and read great books and make extracts Mary wished to say something sensible but knew not how While Mary is adjusting her ideas he continued let us return to Mr Bingley I am sick of Mr Bingley cried his wife
