Serengeti II Dynamics Management And Conservation Of An Ecosystem:

Serengeti II A. R. E. Sinclair, Peter Arcese, 1995-08 Serengeti II Dynamics Management and Conservation of an Ecosystem brings together twenty years of research by leading scientists to provide the most thorough understanding to date of the spectacular Serengeti Mara ecosystem in East Africa home to one of the largest and most diverse populations of animals in the world Building on the groundwork laid by the classic Serengeti Dynamics of an Ecosystem published in 1979 by the University of Chicago Press this new book integrates studies of the ecosystem at every level from the plants at the bottom of the visible food chain to the many species of herbivores and predators to the system as a whole Drawing on new data from many long term studies and from more recent research initiatives and applying new theory and computer technology the contributors examine the large scale processes that have produced the Serengeti's extraordinary biological diversity as well as the interactions among species and between plants and animals and their environment They also introduce computer modeling as a tool for exploring these interactions employing this new technology to test and anticipate the effects of social political and economic changes on the entire ecosystem and on particular species and so to shape future conservation and management strategies

Behavioral Ecology and Conservation Biology Timothy M. Caro, 1998-08-27 Behavioural ecologists study how animals maximize their genetic representation whilst conservation biologists study small populations attempt to prevent species extinctions This volume attempts to link these disciplines formally

The Biology of African Savannahs Bryan Shorrocks, William Bates, 2015 Savannah habitats comprise an ecologically important but ultimately fragile ecosystem They constitute one of the largest biomes on Earth covering almost 20% of the land surface and can be simply described as tropical and subtropical grasslands with scattered bushes and trees Most savannahs occur in Africa although smaller areas can be found in South America India and Australia They form a rich mosaic of diverse ecosystems and this book offers a concise but comprehensive introduction to their ecology biodiversity and conservation The Biology of African Savannahs describes the major plants grasses and trees such as Acacia and animals mainly large mammals that live in this habitat and examines the biological and ecological factors that influence their population size interactions such as predation and community composition Conservation issues such as climate change hunting and conflict between wildlife and domestic animals are also discussed This new edition has been updated throughout with the latest research in the field and contains new technique boxes which introduce readers to some of the analytical methods used to study African savannahs This accessible text is suitable for both senior undergraduate and graduate students taking courses in savannah and tropical ecology as part of a wider ecology and or conservation biology degree programme It will also be of relevance and use to the many professional ecologists and conservation practitioners requiring a concise but authoritative overview of the topic

Tropical Ecosystems and Ecological Concepts Patrick L. Osborne, 2012-02-09 Introductory textbook using the entire range of tropical ecosystems terrestrial freshwater and marine to illustrate and explain major ecological concepts

Food

Sovereignty, Agroecology and Biocultural Diversity Michel. P. Pimbert, 2017-11-01 Contestations over knowledge and who controls its production are a key focus of social movements and other actors that promote food sovereignty agroecology and biocultural diversity This book critically examines the kinds of knowledge and ways of knowing needed for food sovereignty agroecology and biocultural diversity Food sovereignty is understood here as a transformative process that seeks to recreate the democratic realm and regenerate a diversity of autonomous food systems based on agroecology biocultural diversity equity social justice and ecological sustainability It is shown that alternatives to the current model of development require radically different knowledges and epistemologies from those on offer today in mainstream institutions including universities policy think tanks and donor organizations To achieve food sovereignty agroecology and biocultural diversity there is a need to re imagine and construct knowledge for diversity decentralisation dynamic adaptation and democracy The authors critically explore the changes in organizations research paradigms and professional practice that could help transform and co create knowledge for a new modernity based on plural definitions of wellbeing Particular attention is given to institutional pedagogical and methodological innovations that can enhance cognitive justice by giving hitherto excluded citizens more power and agency in the construction of knowledge The book thus contributes to the democratization of knowledge and power in the domain of food environment and society Chapters 1 and 8 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license
