The Atlantic Slave Trade in World History Jeremy Black, 2015-03-12 In The Atlantic Slave Trade in World History Jeremy Black presents a compact yet comprehensive survey of slavery and its impact on the world primarily centered on the Atlantic trade Opening with a clear discussion of the problems of defining slavery the book goes on to investigate the Atlantic slave trade from its origins to abolition including comparisons to other systems of slavery outside the Atlantic region and the persistence of modern day slavery Crucially the book does not ask readers to abandon their emotional ties to the subject but puts events in context so that it becomes clear how such an institution not only arose but flourished Black shows that slavery and the slave trade were not merely add-ons to the development of Western civilization but intimately linked to it In a vital and accessible narrative The Atlantic Slave Trade in World History enables students to understand this terrible element of human history and how it shaped the modern world

The Uses of Space in Early Modern History P. Stock, 2015-03-18 While there is an growing body of work on space and place in many disciplines less attention has been paid to how a spatial approach illuminates the societies and cultures of the past Here leading experts explore the uses of space in two respects how space can be applied to the study of history and how space was used at specific times in Atlantic history The Boundless Sea David Abulafia, 2019-10-03 WINNER OF THE WOLFSON HISTORY PRIZE 2020 A SUNDAY TIMES FINANCIAL TIMES THE TIMES AND BBC HISTORY MAGAZINE BOOK OF THE YEAR For most of human history the seas and oceans have been the main means of long distance trade and communication between peoples for the spread of ideas and religion as well as commerce This book traces the history of human movement and interaction around and across the world's greatest bodies of water charting our relationship with the oceans from the time of the first voyagers David Abulafia begins with the earliest of seafaring societies the Polynesians of the Pacific the possessors of intuitive navigational skills long before the invention of the compass who by the first century were trading between their far flung islands By the seventh century trading routes stretched from the coasts of Arabia and Africa to southern China and Japan bringing together the Indian Ocean and the western Pacific and linking half the world through the international spice trade In the Atlantic centuries before the little kingdom of Portugal carved out its powerful seaborne empire many peoples sought new lands across the sea the Bretons the Frisians and most notably the Vikings now known to be the first Europeans to reach North America As Portuguese supremacy dwindled in the late sixteenth century the Spanish the Dutch and then the British each successively ruled the waves Following merchants explorers pirates cartographers and travellers in their quests for spices gold ivory slaves lands for settlement and knowledge of what lay beyond Abulafia has created an extraordinary narrative of humanity and the oceans From the earliest forays of peoples in hand hewn canoes through uncharted waters to the routes now taken daily by supertankers in their thousands The Boundless Sea shows how maritime networks came to form a continuum of interaction and interconnection across the globe 90 per cent of global trade is still conducted by sea This is history of the grandest scale and scope and from a bracingly different perspective not as in most global histories from the land but from the boundless seas Shadows of Empire in West Africa John Kwadwo Osei-Tutu, Victoria Ellen Smith, 2017-09-06 These essays reexamine European forts in West Africa as hubs where different peoples interacted negotiated and transformed each other socially politically culturally and economically This collection brings together scholars of history archaeology cultural studies and others to present a nuanced image of fortifications showing that over time the functions and impacts of the buildings changed as the motives missions allegiances and power dynamics in the region also changed Focusing on the fortifications of Ghana the authors discuss how these structures may be interpreted as connecting Ghanaian and West African histories to a multitude of global histories They also enable greater understanding of the fortifications contemporary use as heritage sites where the Afro European experience is narrated through guided tours and museums Internationale Bibliographie der Rezensionen wissenschaftlicher Literatur, 1982 Precious Metals in the Later Medieval and Early Modern Worlds J. F. Richards, John F. Richards, 1983 Migration and Mortality in Africa and the Atlantic World, 1700-1900 Philip D. Curtin, 2001 These papers explore the history of the tropical regions of the Atlantic basin sometimes focused on the Caribbean sometimes on Africa but always with a comparative dimension The Atlantic basin is central to most of these comparisons but they are a part of an even broader effort to capture the perspective of world history. Some deal with the shores of the Atlantic in the framework of economic history but the author's concern is most particularly with the role of the environment in history especially the disease environment. Disease was particularly important for migrants who moved from one disease environment to another. In the tropical Atlantic disease was a crucial factor in the formation of the slave trade affecting both the involuntary passengers and those who came out from Europe to manage the trade. History, 1980 Sklaven und Sklaverei in den Welten des Atlantiks 1400-1940 Michael Zeuske, 2006
