Possibilities Of Hidden Things Narrative Transgression In Victorian Fictional Autobiographies:

Possibilities of Hidden Things Hsiao-Hung Lee, 1996 Hsiao Hung Lee's Possibilities of Hidden Things traces submerged narratives as transgressive actions against self identities and conventional strategies in three major Victorian fictional autobiographies Jane Eyre Villette David Copperfield Narrative transgression in these three novels breaks the boundaries between reality and imagination historical events and fiction reason and emotion Instances of the possibilities of hidden things self's wish to become the other fairy tales taking over personal history are typical of narrative transgression fully exemplified in these novels Narrative transgression therefore has greatly shaken the stability of I as the centering voice in the first person narrative Creating Identity in the Victorian Fictional Autobiography Heidi L. Pennington, 2018-04-30 This is the first book length study of the fictional autobiography a subgenre that is at once widely recognizable and rarely examined as a literary form with its own history and dynamics of interpretation Heidi L Pennington shows that the narrative form and genre expectations associated with the fictional autobiography in the Victorian period engages readers in a sustained meditation on the fictional processes that construct selfhood both in and beyond the text Through close readings of Jane Eyre David Copperfield and other well known examples of the subgenre Pennington shows how the Victorian fictional autobiography subtly but persistently illustrates that all identities are fictions Despite the subgenre's radical implications regarding the nature of personal identity fictional autobiographies were popular in their own time and continue to inspire devotion in readers This study sheds new light on what makes this subgenre so compelling up to and including in the present historical moment of precipitous social and technological change As we continue to grapple with the existential question of what determines who we really are this book explores the risks and rewards of embracing conscious acts of fictional self production in an unstable world Longing Tamara S. Wagner, 2004 By revealing the origins of common misunderstandings about nostalgia this book aims moreover to show that it creatively fosters a personal and imaginative memory Jacket

Autobiologies Alexis Harley, 2014-12-18 What does heredity mean for identity What role does the individual have in shaping a personal or a human history What is the ethical status of seemingly biologically determined behaviours What does individual death mean in the light of species extinction Autobiologies explores the importance of such questions in Victorian life writing Analysing memoirs diaries letters and natural histories Alexis Harley demonstrates how theories of natural selection shaped nineteenth century autobiographical practices and refashioned the human subject and also how the lived experience of the individual theorist simultaneously impacted their biological formulations English Writers B. A. Sheen, 2004 English Writers A Bibliography with Vignettes "We are Three Sisters" Drew Lamonica, 2003 English Novel Explication Christian J. W. Kloesel, 1976 For over twenty five years the English Novel Explication series has been providing students and teachers of literature and reference librarians with a thorough easy to use reference to interpretations of works by novelists from the United Kingdom The explications cited in these volumes are interpretations of
