All Our Stories Are Here Brady Harrison, 2009-01-01 This wide ranging collection of essays addresses a diverse and expanded vision of Montana literature offering new readings of both canonical and overlooked texts Although a handful of Montana writers such as Richard Hugo A B Guthrie Jr D Arcy McNickle and James Welch have received considerable critical attention sizable gaps remain in the analysis of the state's ever growing and ever evolving canon The twelve essays in All Our Stories Are Here not only build on the exemplary foundational work of other writers but also open further interpretative and critical conversations Expanding on the critical paradigms of the past and bringing to bear some of the latest developments in literary and cultural studies the contributors engage issues such as queer ambivalence in Montana writing representations of the state in popular romances and the importance of the University of Montana's creative writing program in fostering the state's literary corpus The contributors also explore the work of writers who have not yet received their critical due take new looks at old friends and offer some of the first explorations of recent works by well established artists All Our Stories Are Here conveys a sense of continuity in the field of Western literary criticism while at the same time challenging conventional approaches to regional literature

The New Poet Richard Danson Brown, 1999-04-01 This gracefully written and well thought out study deals with a neglected collection of poems by Spenser which was issued in 1591 at the height of his career While there has been a good deal written in recent years on two of the poems in the collection Mother Hubbard's Tale and Muiopotmos Brown innovatively addresses the collection in its entirety He urges us to see it as a planned whole with a consistent design on the reader he fully acknowledges and even brings out further the heterogeneity of the collection but he examines it nevertheless as a sustained reflection on the nature of poetry and the auspices for writing in a modern world distancing itself from the traditions of the immediate past The strength of this work lies both in the originality of its project and in the precision and enterprise of the close reading that informs its argument Interest in the concern of Spenser's poetry with the nature of poetry is in the current critical mainstream but here the attentiveness is both unusually focused and unusually sustained Brown garners more than would be expected from the translations in the Complaints while at the same time including striking and individual chapters on the better known Mother Hubbard's Tale and Muiopotmos he advances understanding of these extremely subtle texts and fully justifies his wider approach to the collection as a whole Arguing that Spenser's relationship to literary tradition is more complex than is often thought Brown suggests that Spenser was a self conscious innovator whose gradual move away from traditional poetics is exhibited by the different texts in the Complaints He further suggests that the Complaints are a poetics in practice which progress from traditional ideas of poetry to a new poetry that emerges through Spenser's transformation of traditional complaint Abandoned Women and Poetic Tradition Lawrence Lipking, 1988-09-15 At the heart of poetic tradition is a figure of abandonment a woman forsaken and out of control She appears in writings ancient and modern in the East and the West in high art and popular culture produced by women and by men What accounts for her perennial fascination What is her function in poems and for writers Lawrence Lipking suggests many possibilities In this figure he finds a partial record of women's experience an instrument for the expression of religious love and yearning a voice for psychological fears and finally a model for the poet Abandoned women inspire new ways of reading poems and poetic tradition Sibyl; a Poem, by George H. Calvert.. George Henry Calvert, 1883 American Book Publishing Record , 1991 The Ohio Review , 2001 T.S. Eliot's Bleistein Poems Patricia Sloane, 2000 Deals with the issue of Eliot's treatment of the figure of the Jew in his poems Uncovers hitherto unrecognized sources in the contemporary history from which the poems emerged and highlights Eliot's concern with Dante's poetry emphasizing the need to remember the metaphysical Eliot Contends that the poems Burbank with a Baedeker Bleistein with a Cigar Mr Eliot's Sunday Morning Service The Hippopotamus The Waste Land and The Hollow Men form an organic sequence and provide an absurdist improvisation on Dante's Commedia Author information is not given Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Sibyl-child , 1980 The Voice of Prophecy Marjorie A.
