Post Modern Science Education Propositio:

(Post) Modern Science (education) John A. Weaver, Peter Michael Appelbaum, Marla Morris, 2001 These original essays offer new perspectives for science educators curriculum theorists and cultural critics on science education French post structural thought and the science debates Included in this book are chapters on the work of Bruno Latour Michel Serres and Jean Baudrillard plus chapters on postmodern approaches to science education and critiques of modern scientific assumptions in curriculum development

Rethinking Science Education Roland M. Schulz, 2014-08-01 This book presents a philosophy of science education as a research field as well as its value for curriculum instruction and teacher pedagogy It seeks to re think science education as an educational endeavour by examining why past reform efforts have been only partially successful including why the fundamental goal of achieving scientific literacy after several reform waves has proven to be so elusive The identity of such a philosophy is first defined in relation to the fields of philosophy philosophy of science and philosophy of education It argues that educational theory can support teacher s pedagogical content knowledge and that history philosophy and sociology of science should inform and influence pedagogy Some case studies are provided which examine the nature of science and the nature of language to illustrate why and how a philosophy of science education contributes to science education reform It seeks to contribute in general to the improvement of curriculum design and science teacher education The perspective to be taken on board is that to teach science is to have a philosophical frame of mind about the subject about education about one s personal teacher identity

Ecojustice and Education Kathryn Ross Wayne, David A. Gruenewald, 2014-05-22 First Published in 2004 This is Volume 36 in the Educational Studies series A Journal of the American Educational Studies Association which focuses on Ecojustice and Education Alongside articles and book reviews this features guest editors Kathryn Ross Wayne and David A Gruenewald This volume contains an examination of educational research theory policy and practice seeking to highlight an overwhelming absence of attention toward the ecological contexts of existence The articles in this issue aim to further stimulate and encourage a wide and rich web of inquiry into ecojustice and ecodevelopment

The World of Science Education , 2009-01-01 Each volume in the 7 volume series The World of Science Education reviews research in a key region of the world These regions include North America South and Latin America Asia Australia and New Zealand Europe and Israel North Africa and the Middle East and Sub Saharan Africa The focus of this Handbook is on Australasia a region loosely recognized as that which includes Australia and New Zealand plus nearby Pacific nations such as Papua New Guinea Solomon Islands Fiji Tonga Vanuatu and the Samoan islands science education and the scholarship that most closely supports this program The reviews of the research situate what has been accomplished within a given field in Australasian rather than international context The purpose therefore is to articulate and exhibit regional networks and trends that produced specific forms of science education The thrust lies in identifying the roots of research programs and sketching trajectories focusing the changing face of problems and solutions within regional contexts The approach allows readers review what has been done and accomplished what is missing and what might be done next

Innovations in Educational Ethnography George Spindler, Lorie Hammond, 2012-10-12 This volume focuses on and exemplifies how ethnography a research tool devoted to looking at human interaction as a cultural process rather than individual psychology can shed light on educational processes framed by the complex internationalized societies in which we live today Part I offers theoretical chapters about ethnography and examples of innovative ethnography from particular perspectives In Part II the emphasis is on the application of ethnographic approaches to educational settings Each contribution not only takes the reader on a thoughtful and enlightening journey but raises issues that are important to both educators and ethnographers including the relationship of researcher to subject the meaning of participant in participant observation and ways to give voice to disenfranchised players and on the complex ways in which all parties experience identities such as race in the modern world Innovations in Educational Ethnography Theory Methods and Results is a product of both continuity and change It presents current writings from mentors in the field of ethnography and education as well of the work of their students and of educators engaged in cultural studies of their work In many ways it provides fresh new vistas on the old questions that have always guided ethnographic research and can be used as a survey both of what ethnography has been and what it is becoming This book is the work of many hands and provides excellent examples of trends in both basic and applied ethnography of education These two kinds of work augment and reinforce each other and also represent important current research directions in depth reflection on the process of ethnography itself and an application of its insights to teaching and learning in schools universities and communities No one philosophy guides the contributions to this volume nor were they chosen as exemplary of a particular approach yet foundational understandings and principles of ethnography shine through the work in both predictable and unexpected ways

History, Philosophy and Science Teaching Michael R. Matthews,2017-08-30 This anthology opens new perspectives in the domain of history philosophy and science teaching research Its four sections are first science culture and education second the teaching and learning of science third curriculum development and justification and fourth indoctrination The first group of essays deal with the neglected topic of science education and the Enlightenment tradition These essays show that many core commitments of modern science education have their roots in this tradition and consequently all can benefit from a more informed awareness of its strengths and weaknesses Other essays address research on learning and teaching from the perspectives of social epistemology and educational psychology Included here is the first ever English translation of Ernst Mach s most influential 1890 paper on The Psychological and Logical Moment in Natural Science Teaching This paper launched the influential Machian tradition in education Other essays address concrete cases of the utilisation of history and philosophy in the development and justification of school science curricula These are instances of the supportive relation of HPS a subject long discussed in philosophy of education but inadequately in science education This book is a timely reminder of why history and philosophy of science are urgently needed to support understanding of science From major traditions such as the Enlightenment to the tensions around cultural studies of science the book provides a comprehensive context for the scientific endeavour drawing on curriculum and instructional examples Sibel Erduran University of Oxford UK The scholarship that each of the authors in this volume offers deepens our understanding of what we teach in science and why that understanding matters This is an important book exploring a wide set of issues and should be read by anyone with an interest in science or science education Jonathan Osborne Stanford University USA This volume presents new and updated perspectives in the field such as the Enlightenment Tradition Cultural Studies Indoctrination in Science Education and Nature of Science Highly recommended Mansoor Niaz Universidad de Oriente Venezuela This volume provides an extremely valuable set of insights into educational issues related to the history and philosophy of science Michael J Reiss University College London UK Science Education As/for Sociopolitical Action Wolff-Michael Roth, Jacques Désautels, 2002 Science Education as for Sociopolitical Action is about alternative ways of looking at science education Rather than focusing on the transfer or construction of knowledge the authors focus on the role of science education as a starting point for engaging students in social action Sometimes social action is the starting point and students learn science and about science as they pursue their goals The authors provide concrete descriptions for curriculum design or how an alternative curriculum design has worked in practice This book shows that science education can be radically different from current practice without losing its appeal
