Postcolonial Representations Women Literature Identity Reading Women Writing:

Postcolonial Representations Françoise Lionnet, 2018-07-05 Passionate allegiances to competing theoretical camps have stifled dialogue among today's literary critics asserts Françoise Lionnet. Discussing a number of postcolonial narratives by women from a variety of ethnic and cultural backgrounds she offers a comparative feminist approach that can provide common ground for debates on such issues as multiculturalism universalism and relativism. Lionnet uses the concept of métissage or cultural mixing in her readings of a rich array of Francophone and Anglophone texts by Michelle Cliff from Jamaica Suzanne Dracius Pinalie from Martinique Ananda Devi from Mauritius Maryse Condé and Myriam Warner Vieux from Guadeloupe Gayl Jones from the United States Bessie Head from Botswana Nawal El Saadawi from Egypt and Leila Sebbar from Algeria and France. Focusing on themes of exile and displacement and on narrative treatments of culturally sanctioned excision polygamy and murder Lionnet examines the psychological and social mechanisms that allow individuals to negotiate conflicting cultural influences. In her view these writers reject the opposition between self and other and base their self-portrayals on a métissage of forms and influences. Lionnet's perspective has much to offer critics and theorists whether they are interested in First or Third World contexts. American or French critical perspectives essentialist or poststructuralist epistemologies. Topik der Referenz Gabriele Schabacher, 2007 Postcolonial Life-Writing Bart

Moore-Gilbert, 2009-06-08 At a time when concepts of identity and self representation are abundant in both literary and cultural studies Postcolonialism and Life Writing brings together the two increasingly popular and important fields of postcolonial studies and life writing. Beginning Postcolonialism John McLeod, 2000-07-07 Postcolonialism has become one of the most exciting expanding and challenging areas of literary and cultural studies today. Designed especially for those studying the topic for the first time Beginning Postcolonialism introduces the major areas of concern in a clear accessible and organized fashion. It provides an overview of the emergence of postcolonialism as a discipline and closely examines many of its important critical writings. Writing Double Bette London, 2002-01-01 Although Roland Barthes and Michel Foucault announced the death of the author several decades ago critics have been slow to abandon the idea of the solitary writer. Bette London maintains that this notion has blinded us to the reality that writing is seldom an individual activity and that it has led us to overlook both the frequency with which women authors have worked together and the significance of their collaborative undertakings as a form of professional activity. In Writing Double the first full length treatment of women's literary partnerships she goes to the heart of issues surrounding authorial identity. What is an author? Which forms of authorship are sanctioned and which forms marginalized? Which of these forms have particularly attracted women? Such questions are central to London's analysis of the challenge that women's literary collaboration presents to accepted notions of authorship. Focusing on British texts from the nineteenth and twentieth centuries she considers a fascinating variety of works by largely noncanonical and in some instances highly unconventional authors from the enormously popular novels composed by writing
