Postcultural Theory Theories For The 90s:

Shadow of Spirit Philippa Berry, Andrew Wernick, 2006-04-27 By illuminating the striking affinity between the most innovative aspects of postmodern thought and religious mystical discourse Shadow of Spirit challenges the long established assumption that western thought is committed to nihilism This collection of essays by internationally recognised scholars explores the implications of the fascination with the sacred divine or infinite which characterizes much contemporary thought It shows how these concerns have surfaced in the work of Derrida Baudrillard Lyotard Kristeva Irigaray and others Examining the connection between this postmodern turn and the current search for a new discourse of ethics and politics it also stresses the contribution made by feminist thought to this unexpected intellectual direction Imperialism and

Postcolonialism Barbara Bush, 2014-05-22 This account of imperialism explores recent intellectual theoretical and conceptual developments in imperial history including interdisciplinary and post colonial perspectives Exploring the links between empire and domestic history it looks at the interconnections and comparisons between empire and imperial power within wider developments in world history covering the period from the Roman to the present American empire The book begins by examining the nature of empire then looks at continuity and change in the historiography of imperialism and theoretical and conceptual developments It covers themes such as the relationship between imperialism and modernity culture and national identity in Britain Suitable for undergraduates taking courses in imperial and colonial history

Central to the book is a critique of the very idea of the postcolonial itself      The Johns Hopkins Guide to Literary Theory and Criticism Michael Groden, Martin Kreiswirth, Imre Szeman, 2005 Publisher Description      Postcolonial Theory, 1999      Journal of Commonwealth and Postcolonial Studies, 2002      The Study of Africa: Disciplinary and Interdisciplinary encounters Paul Tiyambe Zeleza, 2006 This is the first of a two-volume work which takes stock of the study of Africa in the twenty-first century: its status, research agenda and approaches and place. It is divided into two parts: the first on the academic disciplines and African Studies; the second on interdisciplinary studies      Postcolonial Theory Versus Philippine Reality Epifanio San Juan (Jr.), 1996      Responding to Disengagement Anne B. Walker, 2000      Grundbegriffe der Kulturtheorie und Kulturwissenschaften Ansgar Nünning, 2005-09-20 Er beruht auf einer Auswahl von etwa 150 Eintreagen aus der dritten aktualisierten und erweiterten Auflage des Metzler Lexikon Literatur und Kulturtheorie P v      Development cooperation in the face of postcolonial studies Katharina Jung, 2018-08-01 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2018 in the subject Communications Intercultural Communication grade 1-2 University of Bonn language English abstract Eye level help to self help partnership: these are words constantly heard in the context of development cooperation. However, the notion development can be criticized for being a continuation of colonial thought patterns: a bare reproduction of western interests. Still, most western aid organizations claim as if it were self-evident that they practice a development partnership on equal footing with the global South. At first glance it might seem obvious that a relationship where there is a donor and a receiver can never be at eye level because the donor has the power to decide when, how much, how long, and for what s/he wants to contribute. This directly implies a dependency where the donor can set conditions which the receiver has to comply with. It is surprising that even though the vast majority of western agents in this field of research and practice are very much aware of the diverse criticisms of their activities, they often do not realize that the relationship between the global North and South is constituted as a constellation of antagonisms which were born in colonial times and frame the idea of development cooperation until today. Colonial narratives of uncivilized versus civilized, traditional versus modern shape both our understanding and the order of the world. Thus, development cooperation is discerned through the glasses of postcolonial scholarship as a continuity to colonialism Mostly overlooking this impressive compromise of postcolonialism western development scholarship and practice defend their mission by arguing that injustices are happening in the global South such as malnutrition or death due to diseases which might not be too difficult to solve with the adequate transfer of knowledge and finances from the global North An enlightening interpretation of the development project and its postcolonial criticisms has been provided by Christine Sylvester s essay Disparate tales of the Third World      Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,1993      Globalisation and the Postcolonial World Ankie M. M. Hoogvelt,1997 This major introductory text analyses key development issues and debates from the colonial period up to the present It traces the historical development of capitalism through successive phases of expansion leading to the present implosion The book s core focus is on the emergence of a new political economy characterised by flexible accumulation and globalisation and its differential impact on rising and declining regions of the post colonial world      Henri Lefebvre and the Philosophies Group ,2001 Each bibliography includes a comprehensive list of the theorist s works and critical studies of these works in English Each bibliography contains approximately 600 to 900 entries Books journal articles essays within edited books in the manner of Essay and General Literature and dissertations are included References are provided from a wide variety of disciplines and bibliographic sources The primary purpose of each bibliography is to provide access to the widely reprinted primary works in English and the critical literature in a great variety of books and journals The topical bibliographies include the authoritative works on the subject and are arranged in useful categories The lively part of the modern post modern debate is generally taking place in alternative and left journals journals always included in the literature search in the compiling of the bibliographies
