Postmodern Philosophical Critique And The Pursuit Of Knowledge In Higher Education:

Postmodern Philosophical Critique and the Pursuit of Knowledge in Higher Education Roger Mourad, 1997-08-30 This work explores the philosophical positions of five postmodern thinkers Lyotard Rorty Schrag Foucault and Derrida to show how their critiques imply that scholars are unduly limited by the belief that inquiry is fundamentally about gaining knowledge of phenomena that are assumed to exist prior to and independent of inquiry and to persist essentially unchanged by inquiry The author argues that there are good reasons why this constraint is both unnecessary and undesirable and he resituates the disciplines within a more flexible foundation that would expand what counts as legitimate inquiry This foundation would emphasize the inquirer as a cause of reality not just an observer who aims to accurately describe and explain phenomena Mourad proposes an intellectual and organizational form which he calls post disciplinary research programs These dynamic programs would be composed of scholars from diverse disciplines who collaborate to juxtapose disparate disciplinary concepts in order to create contexts for post disciplinary inquiries

Learning, Teaching and Social Justice in Higher Education Noah Riseman, Sue Rechter, Ellen Warne, 2010 This book brings together a wide range of higher education practitioners from across disciplines Their chapters suggest innovative approaches to learning teaching and delivering a tertiary education experience that centres social justice as a core mission of universities The authors address the ways in which universities grapple with the challenges involved in the selection processes administration teaching and learning and student support associated with an increasingly large student population drawn from a broad range of socioeconomic and cultural backgrounds including many students who will be returning to live overseas Some of the specific challenges of these developments have included those of selection academic literacy independent learning student support and student engagement A second dimension is the traditional role of the universities as sources of independent intellectual and ethical critique of social institutions both in terms of research and public intellectual contribution to political and social policy debates and in terms of the formation of students in their capacities as critical ethical citizens and professionals This social ethical critique has traditionally been built into the humanities and the social science disciplines and the helping professions but has now found its way into other disciplines and professional areas such as business and engineering As well broader social policy and political discourse has more explicitly embraced social ethical agendas of inclusiveness and marginalisation of social groups recognition of the damage to the overall society of enduring and increasing social inequality

Herideen, 1998-11-19 Explores how pedagogy and educational theory can be utilized to redesign the community college so that it remedies rather than reproduces existing social inequities Psychoanalysis and Pedagogy Stephen Appel, 1999-03-30 This edited collection looks at education through the lens of psychoanalysis and vice versa Each contribution asks in effect what does it mean to be a pedagogue and an educational theorist after Freud The authors include clinical practitioners Rivka Eifermann M Robert Gardner Stephen Appel as well as academics from philosophy Trevor Pateman John Wilson Yael Shalem David Bensusan sociology Deborah Britzman curriculum studies William Pinar Madeleine Grumet and social and literary theory Valerie Walkerdine Jane Gallop James Donald The authors do not share any particular theoretical perspective only a determination to demonstrate some exciting outcomes of understanding that pedagogy is to a crucial extent unconscious and that psychotherapy is in Freud's words an after education

Thinking Again Nigel Blake, 1998-04-30 The postmodern condition in which instrumentalism finally usurps all other considerations has produced a kind of intellectual paralysis in the world of education The authors of this book show how such postmodernist thinkers as Derrida Foucault and Lyotard illuminate puzzling aspects of education arguing that educational theory is currently at an impasse They argue that we need these new and disturbing ideas in order to think again fruitfully and creatively about education

Anti-intellectualism in American Media Dane S. Claussen, 2004 In this book Dane S. Claussen argues that the news media have fed vocationalism and self-doubt in higher education and anti-intellectualism throughout American culture Analyzing articles in popular national magazines since the GI Bill of 1944 Claussen finds that media have overwhelmingly portrayed college as a time and place for students to play sports date and marry drink and take drugs protest join fraternities and sororities go on vacations avoid the draft escape their parents and perhaps most of all network and find jobs in short do almost anything except research study write think or debate In the tradition of Richard Hofstadter's Pulitzer Prize-winning Anti-intellectualism in American Life and Allan Bloom's Closing of the American Mind Claussen illustrates the counterintuitive and underestimated nearly overlooked role of the news media in higher education and anti-intellectualism

The Philosophical Review, 1998

Bell Hooks' Engaged Pedagogy Namulundah Florence, 1998-08-27 Bell Hooks proposes an engaged pedagogy to counteract the overwhelming boredom disinterest and apathy that so often characterizes the way professors and students feel about the learning experience Hooks attributes student alienation in schools to discriminatory racist sexist and classist policies and practices This study is a critical analysis of Hooks' engaged pedagogy its basis challenge and promise for the learning teaching process xvi Philosophical Foundations of Education Howard Ozmon, Samuel M. Theorizing Praxis Paul Fairfield, 2000 Theorizing Praxis investigates the theory-practice relation in philosophy particularly within the fields of hermeneutics ethics and the philosophy of education In so doing it uncovers important areas of common ground between hermeneutical and pragmatist philosophy Paul Fairfield defends a practice immanent method of theorizing which is indebted to both traditions and aims to explicitly articulate the spontaneously emergent constitutional dynamics of social practices rather than continue the project of transcendental theory construction

Literacy in the Library Mark Dressman, 1997-12-09 This critical ethnography of school libraries contributes to the study of the politics of literacy at the elementary school level as well as provides an interesting case study of border crossing The book interrogates two accounts of social reproduction and proposes a third Students at working poor Chavez Elementary resisted attempts to get them hooked on reading fiction but while many were socialized to the labor of a piecework economy many also found ways to use texts as they chose At professional managerial Crest Hills students managed their discourse practices in ways that reproduced those of their office workplace but their success was achieved at the expense of great anxiety about the future At working class Roosevelt the librarians attended to the rhetoric of librarianship but students reassembled knowledge on their own terms A second project theorizes the school library as a geopolitical space and critiques children's fiction and the social order that its texts help construct through a semiotic analysis of text classification within school libraries An investigation of the origins of that system and of the ways of reading that it promotes with particular attention to the history of the popular novel describes the gender and class based politics of leisure reading The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2006
