WRIGHT, 1956 English Fiction of the Romantic Period, 1789-1830 Gary Kelly, 1989 English Fiction of the Romantic Period

1789 1830 is the first comprehensive historical survey of fiction from that period for many decades It combines a clear awareness of the period s social history with recent developments in literary criticism theory and history and explains the astounding variety of forms in Romantic fiction in terms of the various cultural political social regional and gender conflicts of the time It provides a broad ranging survey from the major authors and works through to the sub genres of the period Jan Austin and Sir Alter Scott are discussed alongside the Gothic Romance political and feminist fiction social satire and regional rural and historical novels It also provides a comparison of the methods of distribution and marketing and the availability of books then and now examines cheap popular fiction and children s fiction and considers the recent debate about the place of prose fiction in a Romantic literature hitherto dominated by poetry Prose of the Romantic Period. Selected with an Introduction and Notes by Carl R. Woodring Carl Woodring, 1961 The Pelican Book of English Prose Raymond Wright, 1956 The Romantic Period Robin Jarvis, 2015-12-22 The Romantic Period was one of the most exciting periods in English literary history This book provides a comprehensive and up to date account of the intellectual and cultural background to Romantic literature It is accessibly written and avoids theoretical jargon providing a solid foundation for students to make their own sense of the poetry fiction and other creative writing that emerged as part of the Romantic literary tradition Nonfictional Romantic Prose Steven P. Sondrup, Virgil Nemoianu, Gerald Gillespie, 2004 Nonfictional Romantic Prose Expanding Borders surveys a broad range of expository polemical and analytical literary forms that came into prominence during the last two decades of the eighteenth century and the first half of the nineteenth They stand in contrast to better known romantic fiction in that they endeavor to address the world of daily empirical experience rather than that of more explicitly self referential fanciful creation Among them are genres that have since the nineteenth century come to characterize many aspects of modern life like the periodical or the psychological case study others flourished and enjoyed wide spread popularity during the nineteenth century but are much less well known today like the almanac and the diary

Travel narratives pamphlets religious and theological texts familiar essays autobiographies literary critical and philosophical studies and discussions of the visual arts and music all had deep historical roots when appropriated by romantic writers but prospered in their hands and assumed distinctive contours indicative of the breadth of romantic thought

The Romanticism series in the Comparative History of Literatures in European Languages is the result of a remarkable international collaboration The editorial team coordinated the efforts of over 100 experts from more than two dozen countries to produce five independently conceived yet interrelated volumes that show not only how Romanticism developed and spread in its principal European homelands and throughout the New World but also the ways in which the affected literatures in reaction to Romanticism have redefined themselves on into Modernism A glance at the index of each volume quickly reveals the extraordinary richness of the series total contents

Romantic Irony sets the broader experimental parameters of comparison by concentrating on the myriad expressions of irony as one of the major impulses in the Romantic philosophical and artistic revolution and by combining cross cultural and interdisciplinary studies with special attention also to literatures in less widely diffused language streams

Romantic Drama traces creative innovations that deeply altered the understanding of genre at large fed popular imagination through vehicles like the opera and laid the foundations for a modernist theater of the absurd

Romantic Poetry demonstrates deep patterns and a sharing of crucial themes of the revolutionary age which underlie the lyrical expression that flourished in so many languages and environments

Nonfictional Romantic Prose assists us in coping with the vast array of writings from the personal and intimate sphere to modes of public discourse including Romanticism s own self commentary in theoretical statements on the arts society life the sciences and more

Nor are the discursive dimensions of imaginative literature neglected in the closing volume Romantic Prose Fiction where the basic Romantic themes and story types the romance novel novella short story and other narrative forms are considered throughout Europe and the New World

This enormous realm is seen not just in terms of Romantic theorizing but in the light of the impact of Romantic ideas and narration on later generations

As an aid to readers the introduction to Romantic Prose Fiction explains the relationships among the volumes in the series and carries a listing of their tables of contents in an appendix

No other series exists comparable to these volumes which treat the entirety of Romanticism as a cultural happening across the whole breadth of the Old and New Worlds and thus render a complex picture of European spiritual strivings in the late eighteenth and the nineteenth centuries a heritage still very close to our age

From the dawn of the romantic movement to the world war George Benjamin Woods, Homer Andrew Watt, George Kumler Anderson, 1936

Romantic Autopsy Arden Hegele, 2022 This book considers a moment at the turn of the nineteenth century when literature and medicine seemed embattled in rivalry to find the fields collaborating to develop interpretive analogies that saw literary texts as organic bodies and anatomical features as legible texts
