Shanghai Peter G. Rowe, Seng Kuan, 2004. The rise of Shanghai over the past decade is a story of superlatives. The city's skyline has been totally transformed. It now boasts some of the world's tallest buildings and longest bridges. This volume presents portfolios of more than thirty design projects recently completed or currently underway along with expert essays offering pointed analyses from urban design to conservation confirming Shanghai's preeminent position in the global network. BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc. All Rights Reserved. Emergent Architectural Territories in East Asian Cities Peter G. Rowe, 2012-12-12. This book presents current developments in city planning and architecture in East Asia. It describes the many neighborhoods in which the region's large cities are modernizing or expanding with innovative structures and advanced construction projects. It combines a typology of public structures with an analysis of the compositional principles of urban environments. Thus it finally connects new developments in city planning with new developments in architecture and considers examples such as CCTV, Lujiazui, Kansai Airport, Xinyi, Taipei 101, Chek Lap Kok, Cheonggyecheon, Roppongi Hills, Da Shanzi, Shahe, Omotesando and Marina Bay from a new perspective. And the new perspectives presented here are not just theoretical: some forty full-page bird's-eye views prepared especially for this volume show these future urban settings in highly detailed images of breathtaking beauty. The result is a rich portrait of the coming together of global and local influences in non-Western countries. With its systematic approach, this presentation by one of the leading international experts in the field is a reference work on a topic of central importance to the world of construction today. Urban Spaces 3 John Dixon, 2004. The Urban Land Institute has again cooperated with Visual Reference Publications to co-sponsor this third volume titled Urban Spaces No. 3 which showcases more than 140 outstanding urban
