She Went A Whaling The Journal Of Martha:

She Went A-whaling Martha Smith Brewer Brown,1993 One of the women who accompanied her whaling captain husband for an adventure on the whaling grounds Martha Smith Brewer Brown kept a journal in 1847 and 1848 and it is presented here edited by Anne MacKay in a little book that makes a large contribution to women s history and whaling history The very religious Martha Brown writes about her fears her moral concerns shipboard life whale hunting and especially her distress during eight months ashore in Honolulu with a baby on the way a husband in the Sea of Okhotsk and not enough money in her purse     Maritime Labour Richard Gorski,2007 This is a collection of soundings into various aspects of the history of maritime labor from the close of the Middle Ages to the present The spatial emphasis of the essays is north European and Atlantic since they deal with the countries around the North Sea and Baltic with some coverage of North America Indeed from time to time the authors leave the sea behind in order to examine broader issues such as labor markets the regulation and institutions of seafaring and industrial relations on the waterfront But at all points there is a common theme of sea related labor and a common objective of better understanding what have often been perceived as difficult and elusive groups of people     Whaling on Martha's Vineyard Thomas Dresser ,2018 Martha s Vineyard became an integral part of the whaling industry at the beginning of the eighteenth century and inspired a lasting romantic enthusiasm for life on the open ocean From shorewhaling to daring voyages into the Atlantic Pacific and Arctic Oceans the insular whaling community offered a tempting path for many young Vineyarders to rise from cabin boy to captain Local businesses were enticed by the potential profit from whaling voyages and many reaped generous rewards from successful whale oil harvests Through memoirs music and memorabilia author Thomas Dresser recounts this dramatic history of the bygone era of whaling on Martha s Vineyard     Captain Ahab Had a Wife Lisa Norling,2000 Captain Ahab Had a Wife New England Women and the Whalefishery 1720 1870     The Novels of J. Fenimore Cooper : The Borderers, Wyandotte, Mark's Reef, Satanstoe James Fenimore Cooper,1868     Sea History ,2002     The novels of J. Fenimore Cooper. Author's unabridged ed James Fenimore Cooper,1867     Islands Magazine ,1997-03     Hen Frigates Joan Druett,1998 In the tradition of The Midwife s Tale and Pioneer Women an intimate portrait of the courageous wives of sailing ship captains in the last century told for the first time in their own words through journals and letters Maritime historian Joan Druett takes us into the wildly colorful dangerous and most of all romantic world of seafaring women who left friends and families behind to join their husbands at sea On board a hen frigate any ship with the captain s wife aboard a woman grappled with loneliness and boredom as she strove to create a home on a wind driven freighter at sea A deft historical interpreter Druett interweaves the first person accounts of these remarkable wives and daughters with the lyrical narrative of a sea journey from home port to foreign port The true stories of what they encountered on their often amazing voyages from romantic moonlit nights on deck to harrowing encounters with sea sickness storms and even pirates are more fascinating than any sailor s yarn Lavishly illustrated with authentic seascape and maritime portraits this path breaking volume transports readers back to t Long Island Forum ,1992 Keeping Time in Sag Harbor Joyce Egginton,2007 For 300 years Sag Harbor has been a prism reflecting facets of American history from its heyday as a prominent whaling port worthy of mention in Moby Dick to a factory town shipping out Bulova watches to its latest incarnation as an alternative coastal retreat to the exclusive Hamptons Stephen Longmire explores the stories of this renowned eastern Long Island community in Keeping Time in Sag Harbor a unique combination of fine art photographs and historical text Architecture is a cornerstone of Sag Harbor s charm because the village has preserved a full range of buildings dating from the American Revolution to the present These include the stately eighteenth and nineteenth century mansions lining what realtors have dubbed Captains Row the modest homes of generations of working people from diverse backgrounds the commercial facades of Main Street and preserved public buildings such as the early Custom House and Minard Lafever s Whalers Church The work to protect this architecture and the economic and ecological balance it embodies in the face of booming real estate development is at the heart of Longmire s account Interviews with residents both new and old chart the evolving character of the village exploring how it has struggled to retain its identity while learning to sustain itself on tourism Anchoring this story are Longmire s own color photographs of Sag Harbor today and archival photographs and maps that reveal the many layers to the community s sense of place Keeping Time in Sag Harbor is an intimate portrait of a special place that is changing fast despite almost all of the town being listed on the National Register of Historic Places Through Longmire s images and words we appreciate why Sag Harbor is both a unique American village and an example of what is happening to communities across the United States from Santa Fe to South Beach Book Jacket The History of Martha's Vineyard Arthur R.
