Microfinance and Women's Empowerment in Bangladesh Faraha Nawaz, 2019-03-01 This book examines the effects of policies and practices of microfinance NGOs in empowering rural women in Bangladesh Nawaz seeks to unpack the untold narratives of women's empowerment and to fill the current knowledge gap in this area The book goes beyond the narrow minimalist evaluation of microfinance that only focuses on women's economic empowerment through their ability to access financial resources Rather it looks at whether and how microfinance empowers women in a holistic manner across the socio-cultural psychological and political spheres of life The author argues that microfinance reduces levels of poverty which means that women are better able to meet their practical gender needs however they are not empowered unless they are also able to meet their strategic gender needs including the transformation of gender power relations from the household to state arenas Therefore the book argues that in order to bring about higher levels of empowerment microfinance programs must be combined with other services such as financial literacy socioeconomic training education healthcare social mobilization and legal support Microfinance and Women's Empowerment in Bangladesh will be of interest to students and scholars across a range of disciplines including Gender Studies Development Studies and Politics

who played crucial but unsung roles From the first recorded death in 1981 through to the present day these compelling stories illustrate the trajectory of the epidemic Some were involved in the early stages when stigma and discrimination compounded the lack of treatment others have helped to reach a place where although HIV is still with us it is no longer the existential threat it once was Combining the personal narratives with an overarching historical context his book will be of interest to social historians and medical sociologists as well as professionals working in services dealing with HIV
