Elita Ansone, Marni Williams

Postmodern Art Of Imants Tillers:

The Postmodern Art of Imants Tillers Graham Coulter-Smith, 2002 The strategy of postmodern appropriation that burgeoned into an international style in the 1980s is currently epitomised by the work of New York artists such as Cindy Sherman Barbara Kruger Hans Haacke and David Salle This book examines the parallel yet highly original evolution of Australia's leading appropriationist Imants Tillers The author argues that whereas the New York school was predominantly based on the appropriation of mass media imagery from 1975 onwards Tiller turned to the appropriation of fine art imagery While the New York school was primarily oriented towards a deconstruction of the ideological signs of mass media Tillers pioneered an alternative Australian school of appropriation based on the deconstruction of authorship Coulter Smith also argues that the lack of authorial presence that arises out of Tillers approach foregrounds the role of the viewer in the construction of meaning and in so doing expands the discourse of appropriation into the multi dimensional space of

When Modern Became Contemporary Art Charles Green, Heather Barker, 2024-09-19 This book is a portrait of the period when modern art became contemporary art It explores how and why writers and artists in Australia argued over the idea of a distinctively Australian modern and then postmodern art from 1962 the date of publication of a foundational book Australian

Painting 1788 1960 up to 1988 the year of the Australian Bicentennial Across nine chapters about art exhibitions curators and critics this book describes the shift from modern art to contemporary art through the successive attempts to define a place in the world for Australian art But by 1988 Australian art looked less and less like a viable tradition inside which to interpret our art Instead vast gaps appeared since mostly male and often older White writers had limited their horizons to White Australia alone National stories by White men like borders had less and less explanatory value Underneath this a perplexing subject remained the absence of Aboriginal art in understanding what Australian art was during the period that established the idea of a distinctive Australian modern and then contemporary art This book reflects on why the embrace of Aboriginal art was so late in art museums and histories of Australian art arguing that this was because it was not part of a national story dominated by colonial then neo colonial dependency It is important reading for all scholars of both global and Australian art and for curators and artists

Theorizing Imitation in the Visual Arts Paul Duro, 2016-01-19 The theory and practice of imitation has long been central to the construction of art and yet imitation is still frequently confused with copying Theorizing Imitation in the Visual Arts challenges this prejudice by revealing the ubiquity of the practice across cultures and geographical borders This fascinating collection of original essays has been compiled by a group of leading scholars Challenges the prejudice of imitation in art by bringing to bear a perspective that reveals the ubiquity of the practice of imitation across cultural and geographical borders Brings light to a broad range of areas some of which have been little researched in the past

Imants Tillers and the 'Book of Power' Wystan Curnow, 1998 Imants Tillers is recognised as one of Australia's most intriguing and compelling artists This monograph the first major publication on his art provides an overview of his career and a detailed introduction to the works he has produced since 1981 collectively known as the Book of Power The text shows how as Tillers reflected on and became engaged in the distribution and circulation of visual imagery he developed into a true artist of the age of information He was initially interested in installation and conceptual art and participated in several performances he assisted Christo and Jeanne Claude in the famous wrapping of Little Bay Sydney in 1969 However since the early 1970s Tillers has been interested primarily in painting taking his images from other sources especially reproductions in catalogues and art magazines and then presenting them whole or in part in new combinations or in altered forms
