Potential Crisis And Conflicts In The Western Balkans:

The Fight Against Terrorism and Crisis Management in the Western Balkans Iztok Prezelj, 2008 Proceedings of the NATO Advanced Research Workshop on Crisis Management and Counter Terrorism in the Western Balkans Ljubljana Slovenia 20 21 April 2007 T p verso Europe's Coherence Gap in External Crisis and Conflict Management Bertelsmann Stiftung, 2020-04-07 External interventions to mitigate crises or end conflicts have rarely succeeded The EU and its member states in particular have repeatedly run up against their limits in the civil wars in Afghanistan the Congo Libya Syria the Sahel region and Yemen However the EU if not the entire international community have learned one lesson from their faltering peacebuilding efforts If they are to have any chance of making a meaningful and lasting difference they must develop and use comprehensive strategies that combine and coordinate the various tools available to diplomacy development cooperation and security The 29 reports presented in this book one for each EU member state as well as one on the EU as a whole examine how steep the learning curve has been and accordingly how successful these bodies have been at forming new linkages among the various actors involved in external crisis and conflict management as well as within and between their institutions and organisations While the EU clearly still has a long way to go before it can live up to its rhetoric and become a distinct and effective actor on the foreign policy stage small and incremental steps in reorganising institutional practise may help in narrowing the gap between words and deeds This volume provides examples of how the EU and its member states have found new organisational structures and procedures specifically at the headquarters level to better organise the necessary combination and coordination of the many tools available for crisis and conflict management These ways are then juxtaposed in a big picture chapter which also identifies best practices for successful WGA implementation

Bundeswehr Western Balkans Policy Review 2010 Janusz Bugajski, 2010 A report of the CSIS Lavrentis Lavrentiadis Chair in Southeast European Studies The Eu and Its Balkan Entanglements Jan-Henrik Petermann, 2011-11 Essay from the year 2006 in the subject Politics International Politics Topic European Union London School of Economics Department of International Relations language English abstract The Balkan wars of the 1990s and NATO's military intervention in Kosovo at the end of the past decade can be seen as two major catalysts which have triggered various readjustments within the EU's system of foreign policy making. Materially the EU has been forced to reshape its relations with the countries of South Eastern Europe but it has also adapted its post Cold War foreign policy tools more generally. In terms of overall political strategies the adoption of new security doctrines such as the Petersberg tasks and the implementation of peace building initiatives for the Western Balkans such as the Stability Pact for South Eastern Europe or the joint police mission in Bosnia Herzegovina have been widely acknowledged as both internal and external successes for the EU. Institutionally the member states have demonstrated a commitment to reinforce their visibility and influence in world politics by establishing the position of a High Representative for the CFSP, a Political and Security Committee (PSC) and a Policy Planning and Early Warning Unit. It was also recognised that restricting CFSP to an ad hoc arrangement of informal or reactive policies would not be sufficient if the EU's declared ambition to become a significant international actor was to be taken seriously. Still it might well be argued that CFSP experienced a considerable boost only after other actors had criticised the EU's seeming complacency and self limitation to the role of a paymaster in international security affairs. Partly as a reaction to the mistakes made between 1991 and 1995 a specifically European approach to preventing and managing security crises appears to have emerged. Ultimately the EU has learnt a lot from its Balkan entanglements. In this essay I will first trace back the Institutions for the Management of Ethnopolitical Conflict in Central and Eastern Europe European Centre for Minority Issues, Council of Europe, 2008-01-01. Once considered an exclusively internal affair international organisations have over the last few decades become increasingly involved in the management of ethnopolitical conflicts and have been active in attempts to prevent and/or resolve them. This book presents a series of studies covering the work of eight different organisations active in central and eastern Europe: the Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe, its High Commissioner on National Minorities, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the United Nations Development Programme and Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs, the Council of Europe, the European Union, the Stability Pact for South Eastern Europe and the World Bank. A further chapter considers the role of non governmental organisations. The studies consider the varying approaches adopted by these institutions and illustrate the ways in which these differ from and complement one another. The assessment covers both the preventive and reactive sides of conflict management and provides valuable lessons for similar activities in the future both in the region and beyond. The European Neighbourhood Policy in Perspective R. Whitman, S. Wolff, 2010-04-09 Contributors offer new approaches to the study of the European Neighbourhood Policy While the main emphasis is on the empirical assessment of the impact that the ENP has had to date and on the factors that have shaped its implementation it also provides new theoretical and methodological perspectives on how to study this policy area

‘Balkanization’ and the Euro-Atlantic Processes of the (Western) Balkans Liridona Veliu Ashiku,2024-08-30 This book explores how balkanization as a discourse underpins the policies of the European Union EU and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO toward the Western Balkans It shows how EU and NATO policies have emerged from and led to the constant reinvention of the unity of the West through balkanizing the region and illustrates how this dynamic is maintained by and instrumentalized for the political elites Through a genealogical analysis that stretches from the Balkans Wars to more recent events such as North Macedonia s change of name in 2018 the author shows how Western policies have aimed at recreating the united West on the back of the broken Balkans The book will appeal to scholars and students of Southeast Europe International Relations Political Science Peace and Conflict Studies and History

S + F ,2005 War in Europe? Thibault Muzergues,2022-04-19 In this highly provocative and documented book Thibault Muzergues describes how war in Europe is now more likely than it has been for at least the past 30 years how it might come back to Europe and what Europeans can do to avoid getting drawn again in fratricide conflicts Many consider Europe a continent of peace with NATO guaranteeing its security and the EU providing the political glue for a Europe Whole and Free But what if this was not the case anymore What if after a decade of crisis today s Europe was much more fragile than we thought The author challenges our assumptions about peace in Europe and forces us to face the realities of a world that has become much more dangerous Far from being apocalyptic this book serves as an advance warning to the dangers both internal and external that are now closing in on Europe and suggests solutions to avoid them This book will be key reading for those interested in European politics and history the European Union security and strategic studies and more broadly to current affairs and international relations

International Law Aspects of the EU's Security and Defence Policy, with a Particular Focus on the Law of Armed Conflict and Human Rights Frederik Naert,2010 Part I describes and analyses the ESDP including all 22 military and civilian crisis management operations launched up to 31 August 2009 as well as developments under the Lisbon Treaty and briefly discusses the international law issues raised offering a unique insight into ESDP practice and its legal aspects Part II examines this practice in the framework of the status and obligations of international organizations under international law it looks at the legal status and personality of international organizations and of the EU as well as at how international organizations including the EU are bound by international obligations Part III extensively addresses the international law applicable to the conduct of ESDP operations in particular the law of armed conflict and international human rights law filling a gap in the literature Jacket back cover

EU and the Balkans Leila Simona Talani, 2008 Integration and disintegration are the two poles of economic political and security discourse in an area Balkans and Southern Eastern Europe SEE This book assesses the extent to which the integration of the Balkans into the EU will either foster or discourage the integration of the area itself and the winners and losers under this process

International State-building After Violent Conflict Marc Weller, Stefan Wolff, 2008 Previously published as a special issue of Ethnopolitics this volume analyzes various dimensions of the internationalized state building process in Bosnia and Herzegovina since 1995 In December 1995 the Dayton Agreements ended the war in Bosnia and Herzegovina and established a fragile peace between the former conflict parties The settlement seemed morally wrong and politically impracticable but still necessary in order to end violence of a scale and intensity not seen in Europe since the end of the Second World War The leading contributors conclude that internationalized state building can only serve well in the stabilization of states emerging from conflict if it draws on a well balanced approach of consociational techniques moderated by integrative policies tempered by a wider regional outlook and sustained by resourceful and skilled international involvement The experience of Bosnia and Herzegovina may not have scored full marks in all of these categories but important lessons can be gleaned for other similar contemporary and future challenges that the international community no doubt will have to face This book will be of interest to students and scholars of international organizations civil wars and ethnic conflicts international law and peace studies

The European Union and Security Sector Reform David Spence, Philipp Fluri, 2008 Explains the origins of SSR as a concept and the EU's embrace of it culminating in the adoption of an overall EU framework for SSR in 2006 This book shows how SSR relates to the EU's development enlargement justice and home affairs It looks at the multiplicity of resources financial and human
