Religious Publishing And Communications:

Religion in the Media Age Stewart M. Hoover, 2006-11-22 Looking at the everyday interaction of religion and media in our cultural lives Hoover's new book is a fascinating assessment of the state of modern religion. Recent years have produced a marked turn away from institutionalized religions towards more autonomous individual forms of the search for spiritual meaning. Film, television, the music industry and the internet are central to this process, cutting through the monolithic assertions of world religions and giving access to more diverse and fragmented ideals. While the sheer volume and variety of information travelling through global media changes modes of religious thought and commitment, the human desire for spirituality also invigorates popular culture itself, recreating commodities: film blockbusters, world sport and popular music as contexts for religious meanings. Drawing on research into household media consumption, Hoover charts the way in which media and religion intermingle and collide in the cultural experience of media audiences. Religion in the Media Age is essential reading for everyone interested in how today's mass media relates to contemporary religious and spiritual life.

Religious Knowledge and Positioning David Käbisch, Kerstin von der Krone, Christian Wiese, 2023-11-06 What should one know in order to position oneself vis-à-vis other religions and confessions? What is religious knowledge and how should it be taught? This volume sheds light on educational media in Judaism and Christianity such as catechisms, children's bibles and sermons as well as Jewish and Protestant teacher training in 19th-century Germany and explores the methodological potentials of educational media as a source for inter-religious history. It reflects on broader processes of knowledge production and the impact of science and scholarship on religious education and knowledge production within Christian and Jewish contexts. The volume draws on an interdisciplinary conference that took place in 2018 and brought together scholars associated with two transdisciplinary research projects: The German-Israeli research group 'Innovation through Tradition: Jewish Educational Media and Cultural Transformation in the Face of Modernity' associated with the German Historical Institute Washington and Tel Aviv University, funded by the German Research Foundation (DFG) 2014-2019 and the LOEWE research hub 'Religious Positioning: Modalities and Constellations in Jewish, Christian and Muslim Contexts' at Goethe University Frankfurt and Justus Liebig University Giessen, funded by the Hessian Ministry of Science and Art 2015-2021.
