Shaping Society Through Dance Mestizo Ritual Performance In The Peruvian Andes:

Shaping Society Through Dance Zoila S. Mendoza, 2000-08 Considers the way that the comparsas Peruvian dance troupes exert influence on Peruvian society and hasten social change Contains several excerpts of comparsas performances

Shaping Society Through Dance Zoila S. Mendoza, 2011-02 During the patron saint fiesta in the Andean town of San Jerónimo Peru crowds gather at sunset in the town square eagerly awaiting the entrance of the colorful dance troupes or comparsas With their masks music and surprising interpretations of contemporary events the comparsas of the Cusco region are the focus of this multifaceted work At the crossroads of folklore and ritual mass media and local preferences and regional and national identity the comparsas recorded here on video and compact disc have become a powerful way for the local people to make sense of their place in Peru and in the world As Zoila Mendoza shows they do more than reflect societal changes they actively transform society In this fluid world she argues racial and ethnic identities are shaped more by notions of what is decent elegant and modern rather than by skin color or status As the different troupes vie for the townspeople's recognition as the most authentic group these notions are challenged and reworked A fascinating look at a rich tradition this innovative work is also a compelling example of the critical anthropology of performance

Radano, Philip V. Bohlman, 2000-12 A specter lurks in the house of music and it goes by the name of race write Ronald Radano and Philip Bohlman in their introduction Yet the intimate relationship between race and music has rarely been examined by contemporary scholars most of whom have abandoned it for the more enlightened notions of ethnicity and culture Here a distinguished group of contributors confront the issue head on Representing an unusually broad range of academic disciplines and geographic regions they critically examine how the imagination of race has influenced musical production reception and scholarly analysis even as they reject the objectivity of the concept itself Each essay follows the lead of the substantial introduction which reviews the history of race in European and American non Western and global musics placing it within the contexts of the colonial experience and the more recent formation of world music Offering a bold new revisionist agenda for musicology in a postmodern postcolonial world this book will appeal to students of culture and race across the humanities and social sciences The Andean World Linda J. Seligmann, Kathleen S. of study and presentation including dance painting architecture archaeology and primate research the book's fifteen contributors feature populations living on all of the world's continents as well as within the United States The final chapter gives readers practical advice about how to use the most current digital and interactive technologies to present research findings
