New Geographies Stephen Ramos, Neyran Turan, 2009-09 New Geographies journal aims to examine the emergence of the geographic a new but for the most part latent paradigm in design today to articulate it and to bring it to bear effectively on the social role of design Although much of the analysis of this context in architecture landscape and urbanism derives from social anthropology human geography and economics the journal aims to extend these arguments to the impact of global changes on the spatial dimension whether in terms of the emergence of global spatial networks global cities or nomadic practices and how these inform design practices today Through essays and design projects the journal aims to identify the relationship between the very small and the very large and intends to open up discussions on the expanded role of the designer with an emphasis on disciplinary reframings repositionings and attitudes

Landscape as Urbanism Charles Waldheim, 2022-03-15 A definitive intellectual history of landscape urbanism It has become conventional to think of urbanism and landscape as opposing one another or to think of landscape as merely providing temporary relief from urban life as shaped by buildings and infrastructure But driven in part by environmental concerns landscape has recently emerged as a model and medium for the city with some theorists arguing that landscape architects are the urbanists of our age In Landscape as Urbanism one of the field's pioneers presents a powerful case for rethinking the city through landscape Charles Waldheim traces the roots of landscape as a form of urbanism from its origins in the Renaissance through the twentieth century Growing out of progressive architectural culture and populist environmentalism the concept was further informed by the nineteenth century invention of landscape architecture as a new art charged with reconciling the design of the industrial city with its ecological and social conditions In the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries as urban planning shifted from design to social science and as urban design committed to neotraditional models of town planning landscape urbanism emerged to fill a void at the heart of the contemporary urban project Generously illustrated Landscape as Urbanism examines works from around the world by designers ranging from Ludwig Hilberseimer Andrea Branzi and Frank Lloyd Wright to James Corner Adriaan Geuze and Michael Van Valkenburgh The result is the definitive account of an emerging field that is likely to influence the design of cities for decades to come

Urban Design Under Neoliberalism Francisco Vergara Perucich, 2019-05-01 This book discusses the status of urban design as a disciplinary field and as a practice under the current and pervasive neoliberal regime The main argument is that urban design has been wholly reshaped by neoliberalism In this transformation it has become a discipline that has neglected its original ethos designing good cities aligning its theory and practice with the sole profit oriented objectives typical of advanced capitalist societies The book draws on Marxism inspired scholars for a conceptual analysis of how neoliberalism influenced the emergence of urbanism and urban design It looks specifically at how in urbanism's everyday dimensions it is possible to find examples of resistance and emancipation Based on empirical evidence archival resources and immersion in the socio spatial reality of Santiago de Chile the book illustrates the way neoliberalism compromises urban designers ethics and practices and therefore how its theories become instrumental to the neoliberal transformation of urban society represented in contemporary urbanisms It will be a valuable resource for academics and students in the fields of architecture urban studies sociology and geography
