Endless Empire Alfred W. McCoy, Josep Maria Fradera, Stephen H. Jacobson, 2012 Throughout four millennia of recorded history there has been no end to empire but instead an endless succession of empires After five centuries of sustained expansion the half dozen European powers that ruled half of humanity collapsed with stunning speed after World War II creating a hundred emerging nations in Asia and Africa Amid this imperial transition the United States became the new global hegemon dominating this world order with an array of power that closely resembled that of its European predecessors

As Brazil Russia India China and the European Union now rise in global influence twenty leading historians from four continents take a timely look backward and forward to discover patterns of eclipse in past empires that are already shaping a decline in U S global power including erosion of economic and fiscal strength needed for military power on a global scale misuse of military power through micro military misadventures breakdown of alliances among major powers weakened controls over the subordinate elites critical for any empire s exercise of global power insufficient technological innovation to sustain global force projection
