Problematizing The African Renaissance Africa Institute Research Paper:

Problematizing the African Renaissance Eddy Maloka, Elizabeth Le Roux, 2000 These papers address aspects of the contentious intellectual and policy debate about the revival and revitalisation of Africa's political economic and cultural situation the so called African Renaissance The work considers the ideological antecedents of the concept of the African Renaissance the African Renaissance as an imperative for survival and how President Thabo Mbeki of South Africa and the ANC use the notion The contributors discuss the ethical ramifications of globalisation whether neo liberalism can be considered a stable base for the African Renaissance and the likelihood of genuine progress when there are many indicators that neo liberalism is unleashing a kind of global apartheid On this judgement they draw parallels with the apartheid era in South Africa and envisage a similar struggle for change The contributors are five scholars including the Russian Vladimir Shubin and the book's editor Eddie Maloka

Regionalism in Africa Daniel Bach, 2015-12-22 Africa which was not long ago discarded as a hopeless and irrelevant region has become a new frontier for global trade investment and the conduct of international relations This book surveys the socio economic intellectual and security related dimensions of African regionalisms since the turn of the 20th century It argues that the continent deserves to be considered as a crucible for conceptualizing and contextualizing the ongoing influence of colonial policies the emergence of specific integration and security cultures the spread of cross border regionalisation processes at the expense of region building the interplay between territory space and trans state networks and the intrinsic ambivalence of global frontier narratives This is emphasized through the identification of distinctive threads of regionalism which by focusing on genealogies trajectories and ideals transcend the binary divide between old and new regionalisms In doing so the book opens new perspectives not only on Africa in international relations but also Africa's own international relations This text will be of key interest to students and scholars of African politics African history regionalism comparative regionalism and more broadly to international political economy international relations and global and regional governance

Problematizing Local Indigenous Community Research Allucia L. Shokane, Kelly J. Gross, 2021-12-30 This book deliberates on developments related to Knowledge Pathing Multi Inter and Trans Disciplining in Social Sciences The book explores the value of this vexed concept in advancing the course for multi inter and trans disciplinary perspectives methodologies theories and epistemologies of knowledge pathing The discourse on knowledge pathing remains critical in advancing debates and dialogues in the humanities and social sciences spaces of research and studies This book makes a significant contribution to the scholarly understanding of indigenous knowledge research by focusing on problematizing local indigenous community research from Afro sensed perspectives The field of indigenous knowledge research and higher education in Africa is complex Yet across the continent higher education has been the sector to least embrace Indigenous Knowledge Systems IKS or regard indigenous science as a legitimate source of inspiration for the development of youth and local communities Higher education institutions and local indigenous communities should thus generate knowledge and power through research. On the other hand, higher education researchers should use their research processes and skills for cross-beneficiation when engaging local indigenous communities. This book embodies the current discourse on decolonisation and the use of indigenous knowledge in research and is intended for research specialists in the field of indigenous knowledge systems. The Routledge International Handbook of Learning Peter Jarvis, Mary H. Watts, 2012. As our understanding of learning focuses on the whole person rather than individual aspects of learning, so the process of learning is beginning to be studied from a wide variety of perspectives and disciplines. This handbook presents a comprehensive overview of the contemporary research into learning; it brings together a diverse range of specialities with chapters written by leading scholars throughout the world from a wide variety of different approaches. The International Handbook of Learning captures the complexities of the learning process in seven major parts. Its 54 chapters are sub-divided in seven parts: Learning and the person; senses, cognitions, emotions, personality, traits and learning styles; Learning across the lifespan; Life-wide learning; Learning across the disciplines covering everything from anthropology to neuroscience; Meaning systems; Interpretation; Learning and disability; Historical and contemporary learning theorists. Written by international experts, this book is the first comprehensive multi-disciplinary analysis of learning, packing a diverse collection of research into one accessible volume. European Security Bjørn Møller, 2016-04-22. Europe has undergone quite profound changes since the end of the Cold War. Having been a highly militarised, conflict-ridden and war-ridden region, the core of Europe today constitutes a security community where armed conflicts among the constituent states has become inconceivable. This comprehensive book offers a theoretically founded and thoroughly documented analysis of European security with a special emphasis on the role played by the United Nations and the various regional and sub-regional organisations, especially the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation, the Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe, the Council of Europe and the European Union. When it comes to explaining peace in Europe, opinions differ widely. Some argue that it was only because the West refused to give in to Soviet threats that the latter eventually gave up, or that the long peace in Europe was due to the combination of a bipolar alliance structure pitting the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation (NATO) against the Warsaw Pact, with the presence of nuclear weapons on both sides. Others point instead to the extraordinarily dense network of international institutions and organisations in Europe offering a wide panoply of fora in which to handle disputes peacefully, or to the web of interdependence in economic and other affairs tying together all states in Europe in relations which militate strongly against war. Still others believe that the external peace between the states in Europe is simply a reflection of a convergence of cultures, democracies with marked economies that are open towards the world market. These questions are the focal point of this book, which concentrates on security, albeit not in the sense of being a treatise on military matters, but security obtainable by much more indirect and non-military means. It will be required reading for all students and scholars of European security and the organisations which underpin it. The Contested Idea of South Africa Sabelo J. Ndlovu-Gatsheni, Busani Ngcaweni, 2021-11-29 This book reflects on the complex and contested idea of South Africa drawing on a wide range of disciplinary perspectives Ever since the delineation of South Africa as a country the many diverse groups of people contained within its borders have struggled to translate a mere geographical description into the identity of a people Today the new struggles for South Africa and to become South African are inextricably intertwined with complex challenges of transformation xenophobia claims of reverse racism social justice economic justice service delivery and the resurgent decolonization struggles reverberating inside the universities This book covers the genealogy of the idea of South Africa exploring how the country has been conceived of by a broad group of actors including the British Afrikaners diverse African nationalist traditions and new formations such as the Economic Freedom Fighters EFF Black First Land First BLF and student formations Rhodes Must Fall Fees Must Fall Over the course of the book a broad range of themes are covered including identity formation modernity race ethnicity indigeneity autochthony land gender intellectual traditions poetics of South Africanness language popular culture truth and reconciliation and national development planning Concluding with important reflections on how a colonial imaginary can be changed into a free and inclusive postcolonial nation state this book will be an important read for Africanist researchers from across the humanities and social sciences

Private and Public Sectors Karl Wohlmuth, 2004 The African Development Perspectives Yearbook series fills a gap in the literature on Africa's development problems Experts from African institutions and regional organisations from international organisations from universities and research institutions from governmental and non governmental organisations and from the donor community analyse issues and report on problems and solutions on new policies programmes projections and visions and on new and ongoing projects in and for Africa Various levels of action that are relevant for Africa's development are considered in this Yearbook the international community in its relation to Africa interregional and national issues of Africa's development but also local projects and local development achievements are documented Africa's development perspectives are therefore analysed and commented from the global to the local space by presenting analytical surveys and policy statements declarations and programmes of international regional national and voluntary organisations It is also the purpose of the African Development Perspectives Yearbook to establish a news and information network a forum for international communication on Africa's development perspectives This tenth volume presents analyses policy oriented papers development projections and proposals for reforms with regard to the role of public and private sectors in Africa The balance between private and public sector development in Africa is challenging due to a rapidly changing international environment in the era of globalisation It discusses the role of the private sector the functions of the private sector institutions the state of the privatisation programmes and the importance of a strengthening of public policies public infrastructures and public institutions in Africa

Politics in South Africa Tom Lodge, 2003 This insightful study now completely revised and in its second edition examines the pattern of politics that has emerged in South Africa under the Mandela and Mbeki administrations In considering the changes brought about in power relations in the country since 1994 the book looks at among other things the shape of regional and local politics land reform the Truth and Reconciliation Commission and the extent of political corruption Further chapters consider the future prospects of South African democracy and provide assessments of both Nelson Mandela and his successor as President Thabo Mbeki This well informed and crisply written introduction will appeal to both students of contemporary politics and general readers interested in the new democracy North America Indiana U Press South Africa David Philip NAB

In Full Flight Walter Carlsnaes, Philip Nel, Institute for Global Dialogue, 2006 Foreign policy is widely regarded as one of the post apartheid government s major areas of achievement yet remains one of the most challenging In this volume leading scholars provide critical assessments of the conduct of South African foreign policy since 1994 against the background of six principles articulated by Nelson Mandela in a celebrated article published in the journal Foreign Affairs in 1993 While South African foreign policy has become wide ranging and complex these reflective contributions demonstrate a remarkable adherence to these principles Aimed at stimulating thinking among policy makers analysts and students this volume will rank as one of the most authoritative analyses and one of the most complete intellectual records of South Africa s foreign policy during the crucial first decade following its transition to democracy

Language and Identities in a Postcolony Rosalie Finlayson, Sarah Slabbert, 2005 The book s chapters address issues that are important not only in Southern Africa but also in other parts of the world Although the focus and much of the data on language and identity are Southern African most of the writers deal with their material in such a way as to locate it within theoretical debates and or illuminate it with insights from related research in other parts of the world The collection belongs to the constructivist paradigm and is one of the few works within this line of research The issue of language and identity examines how language can become symbolic of the individual or group s identity This aspect of language is explored from a variety of angles exhibiting different methods of investigation and this smorgasbord of methods provides ample inspiration for further studies in the field
