Recent Climatic Change A Regional Approach:

Geographers Elizabeth Baigent, André Reyes Novaes, 2018-11-15 Geographers Biobibliographical Studies Volume 37 explores the concept of distinction in geography Through the lives of six geographers working in Brazil North America Europe and R union it investigates what distinction consists of how we identify and celebrate it and how it relates to quotidian practices in the discipline The volume highlights the continuing importance of biography and the International Geographical Union in recording and assessing distinction It also considers the relevance of personal networks for the circulation and translation of distinguished geographical knowledge and how this knowledge can underpin applied projects and critical appraisal of geographical scholarship both at a national and sub national level Gendered notions of distinction are also addressed particularly through June Sheppard who found limited recognition for her work as a result of gendered expectations within the discipline and society at large By reflecting on how we locate distinguished geographers and tell their histories Geographers Biobibliographical Studies Volume 37 makes an important contribution to fostering less canonical work in historical geography

Vegetation and climate interactions in semi-arid regions A.

Henderson-Sellers, A. J. Pitman, 2012-12-06 The chapters in this section place the problems of vegetation and climate interactions in semi arid regions into the context which recur throughout the book First Verstraete and Schwartz review desertification as a process of global change evaluating both the human and climatic factors The theme of human impact and land management is discussed further by Roberts whose review focuses on semi arid land use planning In the third and final chapter in this section we return to the meteorological theme Nicholls reviews the effects of El Nino Southern Oscillation on Australian vegetation stressing in particular the interaction between plants and their climatic environment Vegetatio 91 3 13 1991 3 A Henderson Sellers and A J Pitman eds Vegetation and climate interactions in semi arid regions 1991 Kluwer Academic Publishers Desertification and global change 2 M M Verstraete 2 Department of Atmospheric Oceanic and Space Sciences The University of Michigan Ann Arbor MI 48109 2143 USA Accepted 24 8 1990 Abstract Arid and semiarid regions cover one third of the continental areas on Earth These regions are very sensitive to a variety of physical chemical and biological degradation processes collectively called desertification

Regional Climates of the British Isles Julian Mayes, Dennis Wheeler, 2002-09-11 Global climate and the effects of global warming are commanding unprecedented interest as climates grow more dynamic and changeable How does global warming change patterns of climate Why is the weather and climate of the British Isles so variable Regional Climates of the British Isles presents a comprehensive and up to date survey of the diverse climate of the British Isles Examining the ways in which regional climates evolve from the interplay of meteorological conditions and geography of the British Isles leading climatologists provide detailed explanations of the climatic characteristics of eleven regions of the British Isles Climatic distinctiveness and local weather contrasts are described for each region together with a summary of climatic data from 1961 to the present Reviewing the history and causes of climatic change and evaluating regional models Regional Climates of the British Isles offers an important analysis of climatic variations Examining future climatic change and its likely consequences the authors acknowledge the need for regionally diverse responses to the greenhouse effect Australia's Biodiversity and Climate Change Will Steffen, Andrew A. Burbidge, Lesley Hughes, Roger Kitching, David Lindenmayer, Warren Musgrave, Mark Stafford Smith, Patricia A. Werner, 2009 Australia's unique biodiversity is under threat from a rapidly changing climate The effects of climate change are already discernible at all levels of biodiversity genes species communities and ecosystems Many of Australia's most valued and iconic natural areas the Great Barrier Reef south western Australia the Kakadu wetlands and the Australian Alps are among the most vulnerable But much more is at stake than saving iconic species or ecosystems Australia's biodiversity is fundamental to the country's national identity economy and quality of life In the face of uncertainty about specific climate scenarios ecological and management principles provide a sound basis for maximising opportunities for species to adapt communities to reorganise and ecosystems to transform while maintaining basic functions critical to human society This innovative approach to biodiversity conservation under a changing climate leads to new challenges for management policy development and institutional design This book explores these challenges building on a detailed analysis of the interactions between a changing climate and Australia's rich but threatened biodiversity Australia's Biodiversity and Climate Change is an important reference for policy makers researchers educators students journalists environmental and conservation NGOs NRM managers and private landholders with an interest in biodiversity conservation in a rapidly changing world Publisher
