Security At Sea Naval Forces And Arms Control:

Security at Sea Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, 1990 Since the Second World War five navies are known to have acquired nuclear weapons and naval forces and activities around the world have become increasingly important and dangerous However there has been no serious consideration of naval arms control for more than forty years SIPRI gathered together a group of experts from eight nations to consider the problems of naval forces and the possibilities for arms control This book is a product of that conference and it presents for the first time a broad and detailed assessment of the dangers of the naval arms race problems with arms control possible approaches confidence building measures and verification technologies Europe and Naval Arms Control in the Gorbachev Era Andreas Fürst, Volker Heise, Steven E. Miller, 1992 For most of the Cold War naval arms control was the forgotten dimension of arms control Beginning in the late 1980s however it has become increasingly prominent in the East West dialogue But it is usually studied from the perspective of Soviet American relations This book examines the subject from a European perspective What role might naval arms control play in the European context What impact might naval arms control have on the interests and perceptions of European states What opportunities for and obstacles to naval arms control exist in Europe The authors address these questions describing the naval interests and attitudes towards naval arms control of European coastal states as well as the Soviet Union and the United States in the Norwegian Baltic and Mediterranean seas Möglichkeiten und Grenzen maritimer

Rüstungskontrolle Franklin Diego Hess Silva, Heribert Schaller, 2021 Superpowers at Sea Richard W. Fieldhouse, Shunji Taoka, 1989 The arms race at sea is a dangerous nuclear race which is causing growing international concern and must be brought under control What are the hard facts about the situation This book documents the realities of the competition especially the nuclearization of naval forces and dispels some of the myths surrounding the naval arms race This incisive analysis of naval forces of the East and West concludes that contrary to common perceptions the US and its allies have a considerable military advantage over the Soviet Navy a trend which is expected to continue for the foreseeable future The authors describe in detail the widespread nuclearization of naval forces of all five nuclear navies analyse the implications for security and arms control and conclude with suggestions for possible arms control measures From Environmental to

Comprehensive Security Arthur H. Westing, 2013-07-01 This work presents the evolution of the traditional concept of national security as military security to additionally embrace environmental security and then necessarily also social societal security thence to be termed comprehensive human security It accomplishes this primarily by presenting 11 of the author's own benchmark papers published between 1983 and 2010 additionally providing bibliographic citations to a further 36 of the author's related publications during that period The work stresses the importance of transfrontier regional cooperation and also recognizes global overpopulation as a key impediment to achieving comprehensive human security Maritime

Security Jozef Goldblat, 1992 The Future of Sea Power Eric Grove, 2021-05-30 This book first published in 1990

presents a fundamental reassessment of maritime strategy It analyses the lessons of twentieth century naval warfare and examines in detail the changing face of naval warfare both in terms of the weapons used and the platforms from which they are launched and controlled It looks at the evolving uses of the seas both economic and military and sets sea power against the developing world environment political legal and economic discussing those factors that stimulate nations to exert power at sea and those that limit their naval capabilities It also develops a theoretical framework for future thinking about maritime strategy and forces revises and updates Mahan s classical analysis of the foundations of sea power and discusses thinking about naval tasks

Survival: June-July 2025 The International Institute for Strategic Studies (IISS),2025-06-09 Survival the IISS s bimonthly journal challenges conventional wisdom and brings fresh often controversial perspectives on strategic issues of the moment In this issue Lawrence Freedman assesses the sufficiency of the British and French nuclear deterrents for Europe in light of Russian revanchism and the United States strategic distancing from Europe Bence Nemeth argues that as speed becomes more critical than funding for European defence front line states in particular should undertake national military preparations before focusing on multinational integration Mariya Grinberg examines how the development of nuclear weapons has discouraged future use of economic warfare Steven Simon appraises Trump s first hundred days and the tenuousness of the American project And eight other thought provoking pieces as well as our regular Book Reviews and Noteworthy column To read free articles from the journal please visit its homepage at <https://www.tandfonline.com/journals/tsur20> Editor Dr Dana Allin Managing Editor Jonathan Stevenson Associate Editor Carolyn West Editorial Assistant Anna Gallagher

The Denuclearisation of the Oceans R. B. Byers,2022-12-15 In the 1980s concern throughout the world was growing about the use of the oceans by nuclear powered naval vessels and naval vessels carrying nuclear weapons Many countries were keen to keep their ports and the waters off their coastlines nuclear free Originally published in 1986 this book presents a worldwide survey of the state of the nuclear use of the oceans and assesses the prospects for denuclearisation at the time It looks at the legal background the practical issues and the attitudes and positions in different parts of the world while regional efforts of disarmament and arms control are necessary so are global efforts At the same time international legal norms including the Law of the Sea must be adopted and utilized in the ever difficult search for world peace Arvid Pardo

Arms Control Today ,1990-02 Lettre de L'UNIDIR ,1991 Arms Control At Sea J Richard Hill,2024-04-01 Originally published in 1989 this book reviews the history of maritime control measures from before the First World War and provides a critical examination of both the objectives of maritime power and the concepts of disarmament peace zones parity verifiability and peaceful co existence It argues that the objectives of maritime power are not necessarily incompatible with international security and that strategic deterrence can contribute to improved security Limitation measures it is argued can in some cases be double edged endangering other security fields and having a destabilizing effect The book stresses the need for non absolute solutions in order to achieve a reasonable level of security and makes proposals for both structural and confidence building measures along those lines      Seemacht und Sicherheit Dieter S. Lutz, Erwin Müller, Andreas Pott, 1986 Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists , 1987-09      U.S.-Russian Naval Cooperation Charles A. Meconis, Boris Makeev, 1996

This book is an effort by two naval experts one a retired Russian Naval officer the other an American naval arms control analyst to look at the future relationship of the world's two greatest navies following the end of the Cold War and the demise of the Soviet Union For the first time in English readers are provided with a detailed examination of the sweeping changes in the strategy doctrine operations and size of both the U S and Russian navies in the last few years The often frightening naval confrontations of the Cold War era have declined dramatically but not entirely The first tentative steps are outlined The book offers a series of specific proposals to expand the current level of cooperation between the U S and Russian navies and even envision a strategic partnership in the long term      Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists , 1987-09      Reports North Atlantic
