Selecting International Executives:

Selecting International Executives Manuel London, Valerie I. Sessa, 1999 Organizations looking to establish and maintain a proactive global presence have executive selection requirements that go beyond traditional leadership skills These requirements also include cross cultural experience in negotiating developing and maintaining partnerships with other businesses worldwide Because the globalization of organizations is relatively new little is known about how to identify and select executives who have the skills to operate effectively in a global environment This book for practitioners and human resources professionals summarizes the most current information about the skills needed to successfully lead a global organization and defines a framework for identifying executives who possess those skills

Assessment and Selection in Organizations, International Handbook of Selection and Assessment Neil Anderson, Peter Herriot, 1997-07-07 This is a book for human resource professionals academics researchers and independent consultants who are engaged in assessing other people at work It places assessment in its political economic social and organizational context and provides a critical guide to emergent issues in both research and practice The contributors to the book originate from countries in Europe North America and Asia and provide a vital perspective for the rapid international developments in selection and assessment in the 1990s and beyond
