Acrobatic Modernism from the Avant-Garde to Prehistory Jed Rasula, 2020-02-27 This is a book about artistic modernism contending with the historical transfigurations of modernity As a conscientious engagement with modernity's restructuring of the lifeworld the modernist avant garde raised the stakes of this engagement to programmatic explicitness But even beyond the vanguard the global phenomenon of jazz combined somatic assault with sensory tutelage Jazz like the new technologies of modernity recalibrated sensory ratios The criterion of the new as self making also extended to names pseudonyms and heteronyms The protocols of modernism solicited a pragmatic arousal of bodily sensation as artistic resource validating an acrobatic sensibility ranging from slapstick and laughter to the pathos of bereavement Expressivity trumped representation The artwork was a diagram of perception not a mimetic rendering For artists the historical pressures of altered perception provoked new models and Ezra Pound's slogan Make It New became the generic rallying cry of renovation. The paradigmatic stance of the avant garde was established by Futurism but the discovery of prehistoric art added another provocation to artists. Paleolithic caves validated the spirit of all over composition, unframed and dynamic. Geometric abstraction, Constructivism and Purism and Surrealism were all in quest of a new mythology. Making it new yielded a new pathos in the sensation of radical discrepancy between futurist striving and remotest antiquity. The Paleolithic cave and the USSR emitted comparable siren calls on behalf of the remote past and the desired future. As such the present was suffused with the pathos of being neither but subject to both.

Maximus to Gloucester Charles Olson, 1992     The Beats, Black Mountain, and New Modes in American Poetry Matt Theado, 2021-09-15

The Beats, Black Mountain and New Modes of American Poetry explores correspondences amongst the Black Mountain and Beat Generation writers, two of the most well known and influential groups of poets in the 1950s. The division of writers as Beat or Black Mountain has hindered our understanding of the ways that these poets developed from mutual influences, benefitted from direct relations and overlapped their boundaries. This collection of academic essays refines and adds context to Beat Studies and Black Mountain Studies by investigating the groups' intersections and undercurrents. One goal of the book is to deconstruct the Beat and Black Mountain labels in order to reveal the shifting and fluid relationships among the individual poets who developed a revolutionary poetics in the 1950s and beyond. Taken together, these essays clarify the radical experimentation with poetics undertaken by these poets.

Verweigerung endgültiger Prädikation Harald Mesch, 1984     What Does Not Change Ralph Maud, 1998

The author demonstrates that The Kingfishers as Olson's first long poem is so crucial to understanding his development that a study of it along with The Praises cut from the same cloth takes one into every aspect of Olson's early life and thought. Insight into Olson's apprenticeship and purposes has been somewhat blurred because The Kingfishers has not been entirely understood.

Ideogram Laszlo K. Géfin, 2014-07-03

The ideogram changed the course of modern American poetry and Ideogram is the first history of this important poetic tradition. In modern poetry the ideogram is an idea presented to the reader by means of the juxtaposition of concrete particulars, usually without connective words or phrases. The poem is therefore presented in precise images, usually very tersely and free from conventional form and meter. The idea of presenting a concept in this manner derives in part from Ernest Fenollosa's essay The Chinese Character as a Medium for Poetry, the Chinese written character itself being a juxtaposition of pictographs to form a new meaning. Ezra Pound's search for an alternative to traditional forms of verse composition resulted in his use of the ideogrammic method, which Laszlo K. Géfin asserts became the major mode of presentation in twentieth-century American poetry. Two generations of avant garde experimental poets since Pound have turned to it for inspiration, evolving their own methods from its principles. Géfin begins by tracing the development of Pound's poetics from the pre-Imagist stage through Imagism and Vorticism to the formulation of the ideogrammic method. He then examines the Objectivist poetics of Louis Zukofsky, Charles Reznikoff and George Oppen.

the contributions to the ideogrammic tradition of William Carlos Williams and the Projectivist theories of Charles Olson Robert Duncan and Robert Creeley He concludes with an exploration of Allen Ginsberg s theory of the ellipse and Gary Snyder s riprap method Throughout G fin maintains that the ideogrammic mode is the literary representation of the twentieth century post logical even post humanist world view      American Writers: Ralph Waldo Emerson to Carson McCullers Leonard Unger,A.
