Performing Postracialism Philip S.S. Howard, 2023-02-14 Blackface instances in which non Black persons temporarily darken their skin with make up to impersonate Black people usually for fun and frequently in educational contexts constitutes a postracialist pedagogy that propagates antiblack logics In Performing Postracialism Philip S S Howard examines instances of contemporary blackface in Canada and argues that it is more than a simple matter of racial misrepresentation The book looks at the ostensible humour and dominant conversations around blackface arguing that they are manifestations of the particular formations of antiblackness in the Canadian nation state and its educational institutions It posits that the occurrence of blackface in universities is not incidental and outlines how educational institutions responses to blackface in Canada rely upon a motivation to protect whiteness Performing Postracialism draws from focus groups and individual interviews conducted with university students faculty administrators and Black student associations along with online articles about blackface to provide the basis for a nuanced examination of the ways that blackface is experienced by Black persons The book investigates the work done by Black students faculty and staff at universities to challenge blackface and the broader campus climate of antiblackness that generates it
