Physical Activity, Physical Fitness and Depression Adilson Marques,Élvio Rúbio Gouveia,2025-08-11 This innovative book Physical Activity Physical Fitness and Depression brings together critical reviews of issues in the relationship between physical activity fitness and depression stimulating individual reflection and including debate on current research methodologies and applied practices This book helps the reader understand the magnitude of depression as a disease that has increased its prevalence in recent decades and the other health problems associated with it Since psychotherapy and pharmacotherapy are often used to treat depression this exponentially increases health costs for national health systems In addition there are always side effects associated with pharmacotherapy Therefore other ways less expensive and without side effects for treating depression are important This book outlines the ways that physical activity and physical fitness are viable options for preventing and treating depression Designed as a supplementary textbook Physical Activity Physical Fitness and Depression is key reading for students and academics alike in the areas of sports science sport psychology sports therapy and psychology and with its thematic content the book s allure extends to professionals including practitioners psychologists psychiatrists and sports organisations who stand to gain valuable insights from its contents Understanding and promoting factors which affect healthy ageing: Physical Activity, Sleep Patterns and nutritional habits Stevo Popovic,Radenko M. Matic,Juel Jarani , David Paar,2024-09-26 A few clear factors are associated with living longer and healthier such as higher levels of physical activity good sleep patterns and proper nutrition However despite all the advances that have been made to increase the general population s physical activity improve their sleep patterns and boost their nutritional habits there is still a lot to be done This Research Topic aims to address the topic of healthy ageing and will consider manuscripts focused on the effects of improving these factors in all ages from childhood to old age We are mainly interested in questions of broader interventions at the individual home settings group school work and gerontology settings and societal level community based settings We also welcome papers investigating the short and long term effects of environmental factors on physical changes in children working and old age populations and their development Correlational and survey studies examining the issues mentioned above are welcome Falls in Older Adults: Prevention and Risk Evaluation Tzvi Dwolatzky,2023-10-16 Falls are a major health challenge and represent the leading cause of accidental death in older adults It is essential to identify those factors associated with an increased risk for falls and to develop specific programs for fall prevention The risk of falling can be assessed in older adults using different parameters including biological psychosocial socioeconomic behavioral and environmental factors For example the risk of falls increases when vision is impaired when sleep quality is poor or when mood is depressed Moreover physical parameters such as changes in body mass and blood pressure are risk factors for falls in older adults Optimal Physical Activity across the Lifespan for People of All Abilities Ronald F. Zernicke ,David Arthur Hart, Humans evolved to be mobile within the boundary conditions of Earth and many biological and physiologic systems depend on mechanical loading to maintain integrity during growth and maturation during skeletal maturity and during the aging process. These systems subscribe to the use it or lose it principle and thus require continual use to maintain integrity. Given that premise, considerable basic and clinical research efforts have been directed at optimizing the effectiveness and positive impact of exercise on sports performance and the well being of those with intact systems. However, those with disabilities or compromised abilities also benefit from exercise protocols and there exists a need to focus attention on these populations as well. Given the myriad of biological and physiological systems that benefit from exercise and mechanical loading, there is a need for all humans of varying abilities to not only maintain the integrity of their health but to attempt to optimize it, recognizing that optimizing each person's health across the stages of the life cycle may require different exercise protocols dependent on stage of life, sex, genetics, and other individualized variables. For those with physical disabilities, embracing and maintaining such exercise protocols may be challenging, but expanded research translation of findings and integration of the outcomes into everyday life to enhance the health and well being of this significant population are needed going forward.

A Comprehensive Guide to Rehabilitation of the Older Patient E-Book Shane O'Hanlon, Marie Smith, 2020-11-17. This book will help all health professionals involved in the rehabilitation of older people to provide their patients with the highest possible quality of life and autonomy. Expanded and rewritten by a diverse team of authors, the text is suitable for doctors in all specialties that see older patients as well as nurses, physiotherapists, occupational therapists, psychologists, dietitians, speech and language therapists, pathologists, physician associates, assistants, healthcare assistants, and many others, including patients, family members, and students. The book is written in an accessible, no-jargon style and provides a patient-centred perspective on recent advances in the field of rehabilitation, an increasingly important aspect of care for older people. Clear explanations of relevant concepts: ageing, frailty, comprehensive assessment, rehabilitation. Broad coverage of all aspects of rehabilitation, including different settings. Explanations of input from multiple health professionals. Problem-based section that highlights solutions to common issues during rehabilitation. Specialty-specific areas of rehabilitation, such as stroke rehabilitation, cancer rehabilitation, post-operative rehabilitation, trauma rehabilitation in the community. Practical section explaining how to plan discharge safely, run a care planning meeting, organize home supports, continue rehabilitation at home. Evidence-based but accessible writing, complemented by practical clinical wisdom. Aimed at a broader audience, applicable to all health professionals who see older patients. Resources for patients and their caregivers. Multiple choice questions to test knowledge.
