Playing Sardines:

A Letter from Joseph Benjamin R Doolittle,2001-03 In the summer of 1998 I began to preach at East Pearl Street Methodist Church I came to East Pearl fresh off the plane from a year as a missionary doctor to India and Honduras I had delivered babies sutured machete wounds and even contracted malaria during a cholera epidemic With my head full of stories and my heart on fire I returned to Yale for residency When I heard East Pearl needed a Minister I leapt at the chance We are an urban church in a struggling neighborhood The city s great challenges are our shared ministry poverty housing illness imprisonment HIV psychiatric problems Despite a gouty boiler and a wheezy organ masterfully coddled by our long time organist Willis Copeland we thrive with a tireless hope As an urban pastor and a young doctor this sermon collection is my attempt to stoke the fires of hope in a world wired with technology and anxiety For those wrestling with their faith doubting their role in the world or just curious about Christianity I believe these meditations offer hope and perspective for our modern times
