Sex Role Attitudes and Cultural Change I. Gross,J. Downing,A. D'Heurle,2012-12-06 The initial impetus for this volume was the occasion of the World Congress for Mental Health held in Vancouver British Columbia in 1977 The theme of that congress was priorities in mental health The keynote speaker Mrs Rosalynn Carter wife of the then President of the United States focused attention on the necessity for an international perspective in understanding priorities for mental health Without exception subsequent speakers echoed the sentiments Mrs Carter expressed that the first priority for mental health was that of children For many participants the concern for children was translated not only into techniques for treatment but more importantly into broadening the approaches to prevention One theme emerged which has begun to be addressed around the world that of the cultural and developmental implications of sex role stereotyping for mental health This topic proved to be the touchstone for many issues related both directly and indirectly to mental health Among the most prominent concerns expressed were those for the effects on careers the learning environment and relations between the sexes which stem from stereotyped attitudes concerning appropriate sex role behavior The consensus of the participants was to urge the directorate of the congress to continue this topic at the next World Congress This was a particularly appropriate content for the next World Congress since 1979 was the International Year of the Child

Sex Role Attitudes and Cultural Change Ira Gross,J. Downing,A. D'Heurle,1982-02-28 Sex Role Attitudes of College Students in India V. V. Prakasa Rao,V. Nandini Rao,1984 This study examines the attitudes of male and female students toward the wife mother and father roles Data were collected from a sample of 210 university graduate students in Andhra Pradesh India in 1982 Fourteen independent variables are correlated with the three dependent variables for males and females On a 20 item sex role attitude scale 12 statements elicited traditional attitudes while six elicited liberal attitudes from the sample In general the students expressed traditional attitudes toward the wife role and the father role Females attitudes toward the mother role were more liberal than those of males Stepwise Multiple Regression analysis reveals that for females father s education was the significant predictor in explaining the variance in the wife role attitudes and the mother role attitudes while caste was the salient variable in explaining the father role attitude variance For males number of brothers explained the greatest variance in the mother role attitudes In terms of the amount of variance and the number of predictors explaining the variance in the three set role attitudes the independent variables did not explain the variance as expected

Value Contrasts and Consensus in Present-Day Europe ,2013-11-28 People s fundamental values can be conceived of as conceptions of what is desirable They influence their selection from available modes means and ends of action Because of the societal importance of values they deserve scholarly attention This volume inquires into the values present day Europeans cherish by empirically analyzing the data of 2008 2010 wave of the European Values Study and explaining the consensus and contrasts in value orientations found The contributors to this volume try to capture the diversities and similarities in value orientations between contemporary

European countries in a range of life spheres by unravelling context and composition effects They are in search of evidence that either country level factors such as institutional arrangements or the composition of the populations of countries in terms of gender age socio economic status religion etcetera have the greatest impact By doing so they paint the moral landscapes of Europe today Working Paper V.
